Allied Armies Clamp Down on Damascus and Beirut In Middle East.

BULLETIN

BEIRUT— (U.P.) —French destroyers today drove off British warships in a battle at the entrance to Beirut bay. The battle was fought in full view of hundreds of citizens who were awakened by the thunder of the naval exchange.

(By Associated Press)

Quiet for weeks, the North African battlefront flamed into action anew today as British troops punched across the frontier into Libya and attacked Axis forces in the Gambut sector west of Bardia, 10 miles from the Egyptian border.

In London, it was indicated that Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, commander-in-chief of the British army of the Nile, may have launched a new offensive to wrest Libya from the Axis.

The German high command said 60 British tanks were destroyed and that a British attack in the Salum area, on the Egyptian-Libyan frontier, "collapsed" under the combined resistance of Axis troops and warplanes.

The British said their forces destroyed 12 Axis vehicles in the Gambut sector. Other details were lacking.

Premier Mussolini's high command also described the battle as raging on the Salum front and asserted that the British, striking "in force" after several days of patrol activity, had been "repulsed everywhere."

Hitler's high command credited the Luftwaffe with shooting down 11 British planes, and it noted tersely that "the fight is still going on."

In the Middle East, British and Free French columns were reported to have slashed through key defense positions of Damascus and

Police Jail 30 In Sudden Drive On Hobo Camps

In a sudden drive against transients in hobo camps in the north end of the city, Mansfield police and railroad detectives arrested 30 over the week-end on intoxication charges.

Police hauled them into the city jail late yesterday by the twos, threes and they had one batch of five. Their possessions, when itemized, amounted to four or five safety razors and little more than a dollar in cash.

Seven of the men received sentences to the Columbus workhouse this morning when arraigned before Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court. Nine others were levied $50 fines with $45 being suspended if they promised to leave the city.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates said that there was no concerted drive against the transients but that the arrests were made in the regular course of duty in answer to complaints. Railroad police, however, said that a group of Actress Announces Engagement to Musician-Composer.

HOLLYWOOD—(NS)—Engagement of Actress Judy Garland and David Rose, musician and composer, was formally announced today after the screen star held a belated birthday party.

Judy was too busy with picture work to celebrate her 19th anniversity last Wednesday so friends of the soon-to-be-married couple celebrated both events last night. Date of the wedding was not announced.

Nine Injured In Area, Ten Die In State

Mansfielder Hurt When Car Strikes Him; Four Others In Crash.

Nine persons were injured, none seriously, in the Mansfield area over the week-end as traffic accidents in Ohio claimed at least ten lives.

Struck while crossing Main street at Third late yesterday, Daniel Barth, 49, of North street, East Mansfield, suffered a compound fracture of his left leg, scalp lacerations and a shoulder injury. His condition today was reported by General hospital attendants as "fair."

Four other persons were injured when a tractor-truck collided with a taxicab at Wayne and Orange streets. In other accidents throughout this district, four more received injury.

Barth was struck by an auto operated by Ralph E. Darling, 18, Lucas R. D. 1, who told police that he failed to see the East Mansfield man until it was too late to avoid hitting him. Darling said that the traffic light was green at the time of the accident.

Four of the five passengers in a taxicab were hurt when it collided with a tractor-truck driven by G. H. Vaughn of 143 Buckingham street. Elmer Wildman, driver of the cab, said the truck was making a left turn at the time of the collision.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stoehr, 26 Hoffer avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Enrich Russ, and their son, Robert, 9, of 11 Hoffer avenue, were riding in the taxicab. Stoehr received bruises about the head and right arm while Mrs. Stoehr suffered bruises about the head and abrasions of the right shoulder.

Russ received cuts and bruises about the mouth and his son had his left arm slightly injured. Mrs. Russ and Wildman were not injured.

En route from Chicago to Martins Ferry, Miss Julia Ondo, Chicago, registered nurse, suffered a fractured pelvis and right leg when her car left route 30-S about one and a half miles west of Iberia yesterday afternoon.

State highway patrolmen said that she apparently lost control of the car in making a turn after

FOUND SLAIN

Body of Missing Secretary Discovered In Garage.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The unclad body of Jessie Elizabeth Strieff, of Des Moines, Iowa, 23-year-old war department secretary, was found today in a garage in the rear of a George Washington university professor's home.

According to police, the girl, who was employed in the office of chief of ordnance, apparently had been criminally attacked and strangled to death.

Missing since yesterday afternoon, Miss Strieff's blood stained body was discovered by a maid employed by Dr. DeWitt Croissant, professor of English at George Washington.

New Texas Aircraft Plant Built In 130 Days

Laying roofing at the rate of an acre a day and erecting cellular steel side walls at the rate of 30 square feet a minute, workmen have rushed to completion in the remarkably short time of 130 calendar days the great, new plane factory of the North American Aviation company at Dallas, Tex. The rapid construction was made possible through the use of cellular steel building, a process perfected by the H. H. Robertson company of Pittsburgh. An airview of the completed plant is shown above, and a section of the cellular steel walls, in which there are no windows, is pictured below.

'RAIN, RAIN GO AWAY,' CRY NOW

Fifth Consecutive Day of Rain Falls; June Now Has 4.06 Inches.

Richland county farmers and gardeners who wondered last month if it would ever rain again are beginning to wonder now if it's going to stop.

Mansfield today had the fifth consecutive day of rain and precipitation now measures 4.06 inches for June, more than the total fall for April and May. With two more weeks to go in June, the month may set a new mark for rainfall.

The weatherman had a hopeful forecast today, predicting cloudy and cool tonight with fair and slightly warmer weather due tomorrow.

Rainfall over the week-end amounted to .76 of an inch, including .38 of an inch Saturday and the same amount Sunday afternoon.

While the excessive rainfall is helping to raise the water level in northern Ohio, it is preventing farmers from cultivating their corn and giving the weeds a boost. If the rain continues, it will damage wheat which is beginning to ripen, according to reports from rural areas.

Overcast skies kept Mansfield in the grip of a cool wave today, the mercury registering 58 at noon. Lowest this morning was 55 and the high yesterday, 68.

Brunner Quits As U. S. Decides To Close Ohio's HOLC Office

Henry G. Brunner, Mansfield, former state Democratic chairman, resigned today as Ohio manager of the Home Owners Loan corporation as the HOLC board announced it would close its state office in Columbus within 60 or 90 days.

Brunner, former Mansfield mayor and active in Democratic politics for a number of years, has headed the federal agency in Ohio since it was created in 1933. He was out of the city today and could not be reached for comment on his plans for the future.

Charles A. Jones, general manager of the HOLC, said Brunner is leaving the agency at his own request. Brunner told Jones he anticipates no trouble in placing the employes of the Columbus office in other jobs after the office closes.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The United States today ordered the closing of all German consulates in this country and the removal of all German nationals connected with those agencies.

Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, made the announcement after he had handed a note to an official of the German embassy.

The order requires the closing also of the German Library of Information and Railway Tourist bureau and the German Transocean News Agency before July 10.

Welles asserted that this did not imply a break in diplomatic relations with Germany and in no way affected the German diplomatic staff in Washington.

The action was taken, Welles stated, because German consular officials and other Nazi agencies named have been engaged in activities harmful to the United States.

ROOSEVELT TO RETURN HOME

Assignment As Observer In London Cancelled.

LONDON — (AP)— Responsible United States sources in London said today that Captain James Roosevelt's scheduled assignment as a marine corps observer here had been cancelled.

The president's eldest son, it was said, desired to return home by a certain date, which would be impossible if he came to London.

He has been in the Middle East as an observer and left Cairo for Portugal early last week. His trip was said to have been "interrupted" presumably at Gibraltar or somewhere in Africa.

SEEK WEALTHY OHIO FARMER

Nationwide Alarm Broadcast Following Discovery of Wife's Body In Pit.

LANCASTER — A nationwide alarm was broadcast today for the apprehension of Grover Wilson, wealthy Fairfield county farmer, wanted for questioning in the death of his wife, Grace, whose body was found in a gravel pit on the Wilson farm.

The state highway patrol reported that Wilson was believed headed for California and that a detainer had been flashed westward.

Mrs. Wilson's partially decomposed body was found Saturday afternoon by boys who were swimming in the acre pond, located about two miles south of Lancaster. While exact cause of death had not been determined, Coroner J. D. Dupler determined definitely that she had not drowned.

He revealed that he had found four or five injuries on the woman's body, including a head wound that could have caused death. He declared that she was undoubtedly dead when her fully-clothed body was placed in the water.

Sheriff's deputies reported that neither of the Wilsons had been seen since last Tuesday. Dupler said the woman had been dead four or five days.

CAMBRIDGE, O.—(U.P.)—Three members of Sonja Henie's ice skating troupe attempted too fancy capers with automobiles in traffic west of here and as a result paid fines of $10 and costs today for reckless driving.

State highway patrolmen said the drivers disobeyed Ohio laws in heavy traffic on U. S. No. 40. Those fined were Buster Grace, 21, New York; John Van Doren, 23, Los Angeles, and Neil Rose, 20, Oakland, Calif.

MACHINISTS IN FRISCO REFUSE TO END STRIKE

Both AFL and CIO Unionists Vote To Stay Away From Shipbuilding Jobs.

TIE-UP IN SIXTH WEEK

Drastic Action Expected By Government, Union to End Work Stoppage.

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO — The San Francisco shipyard strike reached a critical stage today with both AFL and CIO machinists flatly refusing to return to work on more than a half billion dollars worth of urgently needed defense orders in compliance with President Roosevelt's direct request.

As the tieup entered its sixth week at 11 bay region yards and repair shops, the possibility of drastic action by both the International Association of Machinists and the federal government appeared imminent.

Last week, striking machinists were included in the "work or fight" order of federal and state draft officials although union leaders immediately pointed out the majority of their membership was beyond the draft age.

Continuation of the strike, it was pointed out, invited direct action from President Roosevelt under new emergency powers or from congress.

In a secret ballot election, AFL Local 68 turned down the back-to-work mandate of their own International executive council by a vote of 585 to 400.

Striking CIO machinists, meeting in Oakland, were reported to have turned down all suggestions of work return by an even more decisive margin, 359 to 56.

By its defiance of the back-to-work edict of its own International executive council, the AFL local laid itself open to suspension for refusal to obey orders and a blacklist of the 1,200 members in machine shops and shipyards throughout the nation.

E. F. Dillon and Harry Hook, business agents of the local, joined Churchill Calls For Anglo-American Co-operation.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. — (INS) — With words harking back to the early days of America's struggle for independence and unity, Prime Minister Winston Churchill today pleaded for full Anglo-American co-operation to "guide the world to freedom and liberty."

"United we stand," he said in an address broadcast from London as part of the exercises at the University of Rochester during which he was awarded an honorary degree of doctor of laws by radio.

"Divided we fall," he continued. "United we can guide the world to freedom and liberty. Divided we shall return to the dark ages."

Sub's Victims Landed Today At Capetown

All Aboard American Ship Accounted For; Relatives of Mansfielders Among Those Picked Up From Lifeboats.

By ROBERT ST. JOHN

CAPETOWN, Union of South Africa—(AP)—Thirty-five survivors of the American freighter Robin Moor—all those hitherto unaccounted for—landed late today at Capetown from a British ship which rescued them.

The American legation announced the arrival of the survivors, including seven passengers—four of them Americans—and 28 crewmen.

This group, along with 11 others who had reached Recife, Brazil, had abandoned their ship for lifeboats May 21 in mid-Atlantic just before the Robin Moor was torpedoed.

(Among the 35 reaching Capetown were Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McCullough and their young son, Robbin. The McCulloughs are relatives of Dwight McCullough, 24½ Helen avenue, and visited in Mansfield only a few days before sailing for Capetown on the Robin Moor.)

Eleven survivors who reached Recife, Brazil, were leaving for the United States today.

The rescue of the remaining passengers and crewmen should provide additional identification of the U-boat, for the group of 35 includes the chief officer of the Robin Moor and the crewmen he took with him by boat to the submarine in response to its summons before the torpedoing.

The survivors at Recife, taken there by the Brazilian steamship Ozorio after 18 days of lifeboat drifting, included none of those seamen.

Four lifeboats in all were lowered by the Robin Moor on short notice before the freighter was sunk. One contained 11 seamen, another 12 seamen, another 10 seamen and a passenger and the fourth three married couples, a child and five seamen.

Those in the boat with 10 seamen and one passenger reached Recife on the Brazilian ship.

Two Ohioans were in the crew: Fred Hayes, Cleveland, able seaman; Peter Danielek, Akron, water tender.

According to the Recife survivors the commander of the submarine said he would wireless the position of the lifeboats to expedite their rescue. Upon whether this was actually done depends part of Washington's charges that the sinking was a violation of humanitarian rules for submarine warfare.

Whether the British ship which took the 35 to Capetown had picked them up in response to any Vice Consul Due In U. S. From Brazil This Week With Evidence, Pictures.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — American Vice Consul Philip Williams arrives here this week from Brazil with a complete official report, including photographs, of the torpedoing of the American steamer Robin Moor.

Further action in the case, which this country has described as "counter to every law of humanity and international morality," is expected to await a careful study of Williams' report.

Then the state department—or President Roosevelt—is expected to make a strong statement of policy and send a note to Germany demanding damages, an apology and reassurances.

Williams, third secretary of the U. S. embassy at Rio de Janeiro, interviewed the 11 survivors of the Robin Moor the Brazilian ship Osorio had brought them to South America.

Meanwhile a congressonal naval committee source said he interpreted the attack on the Robin Moor as an attempt by Germany to divert American naval strength from its major task — getting lend-lease materials to Great Britain.

The source—a member of the naval affairs committee—declined to be quoted and the interpretation was without official confirmation. He said Germany probably wanted to keep as many as possible of U. S. naval units engaged in the South Atlantic.

For the time being officials appeared content to rest on the statement of Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, that the United States was unimpressed by German "bluster and threats" to sink all vessels carrying contraband to Britain. The state department has denied the Robin Moor carried munitions.

Workers Begin Solicitation For $6,500 USO Goal.

House to house solicitation in Mansfield and Richland county began today as 300 workers of the United Service Organization sought to raise $6,500 as the city and county's share, exclusively of Shelby, towards a nation-wide goal of $10,765,000 to provide wholesome recreation centers for men in defense service.

Contributions are to be cash, according to George H. Smith, campaign chairman, in order to expedite the work of the national organization in getting recreation centers in operation as soon as possible.

Directed by John Pierce, as general chairman of solicitation, the workers were in the field today under the supervision of seven ward majors and 51 precinct captains. Each captain has five workers.

Thousand See Thoroughbreds Perform At Raemelton Show

By VIRGIL A. STANFIELD

Displaying form and spirit that would quicken the pulse of any horse-lover, nearly 60 of Ohio's finest saddle and harness horses performed Sunday afternoon in the Raemelton Riding club horse show for more than 1,000 persons who crowded into the big amphitheater at the Raemelton farm.

Heavy rain just before the show was scheduled to start forced the club to hold the performance inside where limited space held the crowd down. Club officials estimated that hundreds of persons were turned away because there were no seats available. It was the first time rain has interferred with the show.

Mansfield horses were among the big trophy winners, six of them capturing 10 prizes in eight events. Virginia Rose, a beautiful mare entered by Donald S. Black, took four prizes including two seconds, a third and fourth place trophies. Cash prizes taken by all winners totaled $545. The show was a benefit for the Mansfield Friendly House.

Competing with 10 horses in the open five-gaited class, Raemelton Velvet, a spirited animal entered by Black, won the first prize and trophy. King's Star, entered by Helen Nelson of Bucyrus, placed third in the event.

Black and James Hardin, the Raemelton club trainer, entered six horses. Only other Mansfield entry was Malabar Tony, owned by Miss Hope Bromfield, daughter of Author Louis Bromfield. Hardin's handling of the Mansfield entries in a number of events drew praise from the crowd.

Speaking For Myself.

MY NOMINATION for the comedy scene-of-the-year is the elevator sequence in "Love Crazy" — the funniest picture I've seen since Bob Hope in "Ghost-breakers" . . . I'm still not sold on those red, green or purple stockings for ladies. They're all right for tight-rope-walking, but for cocktails, I'm not so sure . . . .

Dorothy Kilgallen

Somehow I'll never believe that Robert Taylor is Billy the Kid . . . This is the time of year when you can stand in the middle of Times Square and think of a sailboat on a blue lake . . .

Some day I would like to meet a fellow whose work is making those frilly paper panties that go on lamb chops . . . I've heard so many talking-pigeon gags in the past year that I really don't think I'd be surprised if a pigeon walked up to me outside the Stork club and said something witty.

Every time I read that Gilbert Roland, Connie Bennett's new husband, is on the verge of being drafted, I keep wondering if he was really only as old as Baby Sandy when I first saw him in the movies.

Right on top of my discovery of a taxi driver named Ivanhoe, I have found a charioteer yclept Pincus Schrank, and I think he is my favorite . . .

Radio still amazes me. When I sit in my living room and hear a man's voice say clearly, calmly and with no inflection of miracle, "This is Ankara, Turkey," I can't down a feeling that he's joking. That distance is too far for a man's casual voice to travel.

More than anything else I envy people with good memories. I remember trivia — impressions, moods, unrelated facts. I'm only fair on faces, terrible on names . . .

Monty Proser's dance palace at Madison Square Garden is an astonishing phenomenon. Watching that milling job of jitterbugs made me understand, for the first time, the meaning of the expression, "Whew!"

I see where the Baroque restaurant has installed a Celebrity-of-the-Day table, reserved for Big Names. That ought to start some fine feuds over who's bigger than whom . . .

There seems to be a general decline of the type of light flannel summer trousers that used to be called "ice cream" pants, and I must say nothing could please me more . . . .

I can only think of two kinds of dogs that don't appeal to me: Pekes and Chows. Cairns, Bulls, Scotties, Great Danes, St. Bernards and Bedlingtons I can get positively silly over . . .

Wonder what would happen if Wills Hays, the movie czar, and Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, the high chief of baseball, suddenly exchanged jobs? I can picture Hays telling the ball players they couldn't wear sweaters — and Landis ruling Clark Gable a free agent because MGM wanted to farm him out to another company!

I wish some comic strip artist would borrow Paul Hartman's face for the leading character in a cartoon. It's such a perfect comedy pan . . .

I wonder if anyone ever reads anything that arrives mimeographed . . . I never do . . . I've never seen anyone in real life hold a letter and shake it and turn it over, wondering what could be in it, the way characters do in the movies. People I know just open 'em up . . .

Now's a good time to see the skyline from the Staten Island ferry—salt breezes against your cheeks and the most exciting sight in the world . . . Switch of the week was performed by Vi Bradley, the former torch singer, who turned out a serious musical composition, "Columbus Circle Suite," which Frank Black played on his airshow . . .

I'd like to see a revival of "Jubilee" . . . I'm a bold experimenter with foreign dishes, but Hawaiian menus have me stopped. I've never been able to eat poi, the dish made out of wholewheat flour and raw fish.

I love polka dots, and I have noticed that most men do, too.

I wonder why people always come off roller coaster rides laughing as if they'd had one frozen custard too many? Girls always laugh more than their beaux . . .

It's almost impossible to pass a pet shoppe window without stopping to tap on the window or make faces as the pooches. Dogs must think people are awfully silly . . .

Lots of strange things must happen to Tommy Manville because he has a reputation for being free with his bankroll. The other night he went to a musical comedy and the chorines sent him out a note asking for a fur coat for one of the showgirls who didn't have one. Tommy thought it was a gag, but they meant it.

SIX DANISH SHIPS TAKEN OVER BY U. S.

Vessels Tied Up In American Ports Become Property of Government.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The U. S. maritime commission, in its first action under the new ship requisition law, today took physical possession of six idle Danish ships tied up in American ports.

Agents of the commission went aboard the vessels in New York, Boston, and Portland, Me., at 9 a. m., and posted placards, informing the crews that the ships and all their equipment had been taken over by the American government.

Three of the freighters were in New York, two in Boston and one in Portland, Me. Within the next few weeks, the commission expects to take over more Danish ships and, as soon as sabotage damage repairs are completed, German and Italian vessels.

The requisitioning today was carried out before completion of negotiations with agents for Danish ship operators on compensation, indicating the urgent need for an increasing number of merchant ships.

There are 33 additional Danish bottoms in American or territorial waters, and the commission is proceeding with negotiations to take over these remaining vessels as soon as possible.

The commission said there had been no final decision as to what service the ships would enter, but added that it was possible "that one or more will be operated in the service of the United States army."

"It is likely that none of the six will be used in transatlantic service," the commission said.

The commission expressed hope that the Danish crews would remain aboard their vessels. Other quarters reported that the Danes were under strong pressure from the Nazi-dominated Copenhagen government.

This pressure, it was said in informed quarters, seeks to prevent the Danish crews from sailing for Britain, or aiding the United States defense effort in any way.

The Danish ships, along with 29 German and Italian vessels, have been under protective coast guard custody since April.

PLAN WILL BE GIVEN TO OPM WITHIN WEE

Schedule Will Involve Th Eight Hour Shifts Every Day.

By SANDOR S. KLEIN
(U.P. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON—Organized l bor's plan for ending the wee end "blackout" in defense ind tries will be presented to the fice of production manageme within a week, it was learned day.

Details have not been di closed, but the plan is expecte to outline methods by which ce tain industries could be place on a three shift, 160-hour wee The plan has been formulate by the OPM's labor policy ad visory committee, composed representatives of the America Federation of Labor, the Con gress of Industrial Organiza tions and the railroad brothe hoods.

The urgent need of more indu trial production was emphasiz by President Roosevelt last nig in a statement deploring the "co tinued discrimination" agains Negroes and other classes workers in industry.

Mr. Roosevelt, in a memora dum to OPM Directors William Knudsen and Sidney Hillman, sa we could not afford "arbitrari to exclude large segments" of th population from defense industr

Asserting that the situation w one of "grave national impor ance," he ordered the OPM to tak steps to eliminate situations tha have resulted in repeated con plaints that "available and much needed workers are being barre from defense production solely be cause of race, religion or nationa origin."

Meanwhile, there was no ind cation what counteraction the gov ernment plans in view of the re fusal of San Francisco machinist to return to work at 11 shipyard where they have been on strik since May 10. Other employes ar back to work, but officials sai production was being impeded b the lack of machinists.

President Roosevelt earlier ha said that it was imperative tha the machinists resume work on th $500,000,000 of defense contract in their yards. In view of that i was believed strong pressure would be applied now since th machinists' rejection yesterday o the president's request. The re quest was relayed to them by President Harvey Brown of the International Association of Ma chinists after approval by the union's executive board and by CIO President Philip Murray.

OPM Director Knudsen repeatedly has emphasized the need for continuing operations in defense factories over the week-end.

Proponents of the 160-hour work week contend that it could be installed effectively and be maintained. The remaining eight hours of the week could be utilized for maintenance and repairs. This period, they suggest, should be between 7 a. m. and 3 p. m. Sunday.

The 160-hour week would involve three eight hour shifts every day except Sunday when there would be only two.

Numerous problems must be solved before such a program could be made effective; for example, there is the question of availability of sufficient materials and labor.

SPEND WEEKEND ON PLAY TOUR

2,000 on Maneuvers Convoyed To Cities For Dancing and Sports Events.

(By United Press)

CAMP CLAIBORNE, La.—Approximately 2,000 Ohio soldiers of the 37th division were convoyed to five cities in Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas on recreation trips last week-end.

The cities, co-operating with the 37th, under the command of Major General Robert S. Beightler, arranged dances, sports and organized tours for the Ohioans.

Torrential downpours last week in the Sabine river area turned the maneuvers of the 37th division into a bog. The rain turned the camp grounds into swamps and the roads into rivers of mud.

The men of one infantry regiment built dozens of giant bonfires. At another area the soldiers rolled into their blankets and crawled into wet tents, too exhausted to care about the elements.

The "brass hats," from General Beightler on down, stood with the men through the rain. Those around the bon-fires sang marching songs and popular hits at the top of their voices.

From June 23 to 27 the Ohio division will participate in field maneuvers that will involve 100,000 soldiers in action.

TELLS WOOSTER GRADS AMERICA 'SHOULD HELP ENGLAND NOW'

(By Associated Press)

WOOSTER—Americans, to escape becoming "the slaves of conquering Hitler," should help England now—by going to war if necessary—Sen. George W. Norris asserted today.

"If we can supply her with airplanes, with food, and with military material, I believe she can and will win, and the war will be over," the Nebraska independent said in an address prepared for Wooster college's commencement.

"If she fails and we must go on with these years of preparation for greater armament, the probabilities are that we will fail, but even if we do not, we will be sending soldiers to South and . . . Central America."

Should England fall and the United States get into a race with the Axis powers for military supremacy, Norris said:

"The chances are that we would go down at the end of the struggle and become the slaves of conquering Hitler.

"It seems plain that, even at the risk of war which will not extend, so far as I can see, to the sending of an army to foreign lands but will be confined to warfare upon the seas and in the air, it will be far better to take that chance than to see England fall and compel us to go through the preparation which will be necessary to meet the foe later."

Senator Norris maintained that in a race for military supremacy, Adolf Hitler and his dictator partners in Italy, Russia and Japan could build planes, battleships and submarines faster than the U. S.; that he could offer South America greater trade inducements, and that with the loss of foreign trade the U. S. would be burdened by crushing taxes.

"The outcome is plain," Norris added. "In this kind of struggle we will go down to defeat without a shot being fired."

3 DRAW FINES

Drivers In Court on Charges of Drunk Driving.

Three motorists were given heavy fines this morning in municipal court by Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch after they pleaded guilty to charges of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

Carl Wolford May, 445 Lily street, was fined $150 and costs and had his operator's license revoked for one year. Judge Kalbfleisch said that $50 of the fine would be suspended if May paid the damages to a car owned by John Edmiston, jr., of Ashland.

Edmiston's car was badly damaged last night when it was hit by May's on East Sixth street near Main street. The charge against May was placed on the complaint of John Edmiston, sr., the driver's father, who was riding with him at the time of the crash.

Fines of $75 and costs and the revocation of their operator's licenses were levied against John W. Winkler, Mansfield, R. D. 1, and Harley C. Sowash, Bellville. Winkler was arrested by city police late yesterday on North Franklin avenue and Sowash was arrested by state highway patrolmen on state route 13.

ILLNESS FATAL

John Eberhardt, 38, Empire Employe, Succumbs.

John F. Eberhart, 38, of 523 Louise avenue, died Sunday at General hospital after a short illness.

He was born Feb. 8, 1902, in Arkansas and came to Mansfield 18 years ago and has been employed since then by the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company. He is a member of Moose lodge, No. 341, and Delano lodge No. 169.

Surviving are his widow, Idella; one son, Thomas of Mansfield; his mother, Mrs. Josie Eberhart, and two brothers, George and Jacob, all of Arkansas.

The body was taken to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held Wednesday at 3 p. m. in charge of Rev. G. E. Swoyer, pastor of the First Lutheran church. Burial will be at Savannah.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — "In the Navy." Screenplay by Arthur T. Horman and John Grant from story by Horman. Directed by Arthur Lubin. Principals: Bud Abbott and Lou Costello, Dick Powell, Claire Dodd, the Andrews Sisters, Dick Foran, Billy Lenhart, Kenneth Brown, Shemp Howard, the Condos Brothers.

The "Buck Privates" are in the navy now, and their search for laughs on and around the water is as successful as it was in the selective service camps.

Allowing for the slight wear and tear on the comics as novelties, "In the Navy" makes a happy follow-up. What plot there is centers around the efforts of Powell (likeable as a heart-throb crooner who chucks it all to join the navy and escape the women) to keep Reporter Dodd from exposing his hide-out. By story's end Powell and Dodd are safely in each other's arms, which takes care of the conventional "love interest," but in an Abbott-Costello movie it's still the laughs that count.

There are plenty. Straight-man Abbott persuades his patsy Costello to talk back to the cop who hasn't decided to give him a ticket for jay-walking, and as usual the patsy gets the ticket. The other vaudeville routines are well-spotted. There's the one about the shell-game played with lemons, and then the interesting procedure by which chubby Costello proves that seven times 13 equals 28. There's Costello's business of manipulating himself into a hammock, and then the hilarious sequence in which Lou, pretending to be an admiral, maneuvers his ship into disaster for itself and other units of the fleet—a sequence which happily reveals itself as a dream.

Throughout the proceedings the indefatigable Andrews sisters tear like determined Amazons — and somewhat frighteningly — into various selections, including a boogie-woogie and a Harlem stomp called "Give Me Some Skin" — hailed as a hit by many but in these quarters regarded as a trifle on the macabre side. All the music is by Gene DePaul and Don Raye.

If you liked "Buck Privates" you'll have a good time "In the Navy."

FOUND DEAD

Mrs. George Heath, Shiloh Restaurant Operator, Dies.

SHILOH—Mrs. George Heath, 49, was found dead at her home here last night. Dr. L. B. McCullough, Richland county coroner, said death was due to a heart attack.

Mrs. Heath was born in Damascus, Syria, and came to the United States when she was six years old, spending her childhood in Meadsville, Pa. She came to Shiloh a year ago to operate a restaurant after managing one in Shelby for 20 years.

She is survived by her husband, George; a son by a former marriage; four grandchildren and two brothers. Her first husband, Phillip Julian, preceeded her in death.

The body was taken to the Sutter funeral home. Funeral arrangements have not been made yet.

Bandit Wounded In Holdup Walks Into Hospital

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Hospital attaches today described as "fair" the condition of Philip Criss, 28-year-old ex-convict from Detroit who walked into Mount Sinai hospital Saturday midnight with a bullet wound in the abdomen.

Police said Criss received the wound while fleeing from a holdup he and two accomplices had attempted in Hamtramck, a Detroit suburb, Friday.

Detectives Leo Doyle and Edward Martin of Detroit questioned Criss yesterday after an operation had been performed.

The detectives said Criss admitted his part in the attempted holdup, in which a tavern keeper saved $3,600 he had withdrawn from a bank by grabbing a pistol held by one of the thugs and kicking Criss in the stomach as they tried to get into his automobile.

STYMIED

Officer Chases Auto Thief; Holds Fire Because Of Children.

HAZARD, Ky.—(AP)—Patrolman Bert Feltner gave hot pursuit in his cruiser to a stolen truck. He couldn't catch it and although within shooting range he couldn't fire.

Finally the truck bogged down in a road under repair.

Feltner arrested the driver and escorted home the three reasons why he hadn't been able to shoot. They were the owner's children, who had been asleep in the truck when it was stolen from in front of a theater.

Leaving Ashland in school buses they boarded chartered Greyhound buses at Akron and proceeded from there to Pittsburgh. They will visit the Heinz factory there and inspect the "57" varieties." They expect to arrive in Gettysburg by 4 p. m., spend two hours on the battlefields.

After spending Tuseday in Washington they will go Wednesday to Mt. Vernon and Alexandria.

The tour is sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Of the fifty-five seniors and undergraduates of high school two were selected as official representatives of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. They were selected because of their high scholastic average, their capable attention to extra curricular activities and their service to the high school.

These representatives are Marguerite Richert and Charles Bartley. The chaperones are Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Paxton and Mr. and Mrs. H Hartzler. Both men are members of the high school faculty.

CRESTLINE GIRL WEDS GALION MAN IN QUIET HOME CEREMONY

CRESTLINE — In a simple wedding ceremony Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fisher, their daughter, Anna Belle, became the bride of Othel A. Williams, son of Mrs. Calvin Williams of Galion.

Rev. S. A. Metzgar, pastor of the English Lutheran church read the single ring service which was witnessed by members of the immediate families.

Attending the couple were the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Cole of Galion.

An informal reception was held following the ceremony. The bride attended the local high school and the groom the Galion schools.

Both are employes of the North Electric company at Galion. They will reside with the bride's parents temporarily.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, MONDAY, JUNE 16, 1941.

Be Thankful For Mondays

THERE'S one good thing about a Monday—even though it's a dull gray sort of Monday. That's the absence of nerve-shattering horn-tooting in the downtown section of the city Saturday and Saturday night by those impatient and thoughtless motorists who seemingly can't put up with traffic delays.

No one will deny that Saturday traffic in Mansfield is a mess. But neither will anyone—with the possible exception of the horn-tooters themselves—argue that continual blasting of the siren will do anything to remedy it.

Something ought to be done about week-end traffic regulation in the business section. It's really a problem, and one that will require considerable study and possibly drastic action.

But we'd suggest that the first problem is the horn tooter. And we'd recommend drastic action to stop him.

If there isn't a law, there ought to be, that would silence him. How about charging disturbance of the peace? How about a special police anti-horn-tooting squad to stage a brief but thorough extermination campaign?

They laughed at New York's Mayor La Guardia when he started an anti-noise campaign. But he got some results. Let's see if we can't get some results here.

A Woman's 'Dream House'

A SPRIGHTLY woman columnist reports what guests at a party said they would have in a "dream house of their own design." A partial list includes:

A bedroom large enough for a chaise longue. At least one closet big enough to get lost in. Doorways wide enough to move furniture through. An oven in the backyard, under a roof. An automatic gadget to close bedroom windows on cold winter mornings. Floor plugs everywhere. A provincial kitchen with a battery of copper saucepans over the stove. A niche in the wall above the bathtub to hold books, dusting powder, and other odds and ends. A fireplace in the living room and the master bedroom. A doorbell that wouldn't ring when you didn't want it to.

The list seems revealing of what the guests' present dwellings lack. The composite dream house suggested sounds, also, like a combination of the good features of old, but well designed, houses and quite modern houses.

But while they were house-dreaming, why didn't these people suggest a telephone that was as amenable to mood as the doorbell? And why not air-conditioning and thermostats that would make it unnecessary to have open bedroom windows on cold winter nights?

Nation of Swimmers

LEARNING to swim is an all-year-round project nowadays, but with special emphasis in the summer. The growth in number of swimming pools, indoors and outdoors, has been great in the last decade. The movement to restore rivers and small lakes to their original purity, and to build artificial lakes in regions which formerly lacked them, has been aimed at both conservation and recreation.

There are many organizations, clubs and camps that provide swimming facilities and instructions. Among them all, opportunity is provided for beginners from five years old on up to the 50's and beyond, for swimming is a form of exercise which need not be too strenuous. Taken under proper conditions and in suitable amounts, it is healthful.

Along with swimming goes widespread instructions in life-saving technique. Many young people, who do not expect to become lifeguards at beaches or pools, take the life-saving courses and pass the stiff examinations. The result is that drownings do not increase in proportion to the growth in population and number of swimmers.

Washington Speed-Up

IT IS rather startling to read that employes in the War Department at Washington have had five hours added to their working week. They will report for work as usual at 8:15 a. m. and have 45 minutes off for lunch, and will then work until 5 p. m. instead of 4 p. m. That makes a week of 44 hours instead of 39.

They won't get any more pay for it, either, than they got for their little old 39 hours. Maybe bureaucracy isn't so bad as many of us have supposed. And it looks as if Washington is taking this war seriously.

Oil Shortage Pinch Due Soon

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—The pinch of the gasoline shortage is expected by government officials in the third and fourth quarters of this year. Unfortunately, nothing that can be done in that length of time will be important in affecting the situation. It is not a question of production, it is merely a question of transportation.

Oddly enough it is the Department of Justice which is really responsible. Ever since the war broke out in Europe in the late summer of 1939 the oil men have been worrying about this very problem. They foresaw that there would be a terrific shortage of shipping if the war lasted long enough, and they knew tankers would rate pretty high among the classifications of ships desired.

They did not figure, as early as that, on the U. S. government taking their tankers away from them. Their thoughts were more selfish, if it is fair to put it that way. The point is they thought, with the torpedoing of so many ships throughout the world, and the necessity of getting oil and gasoline to Britain, that ocean freight rates would make any water carrier a big earner. Therefore they thought that it would turn out very profitably if they could be in a position by that time to sell their tankers to the British at a high price, and haul the oil from the Gulf Coast to the Atlantic seaboard in pipe lines.

It would have been still better if they could have built more tankers, but they contracted for all they could get promised, and that was before the steam was really turned on ship building. In fact one of the amazing bits of stupidity in this whole situation has been the slowness with which this country came to realize that there would be a terrific shipping problem. The Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf coasts ought to have been alive with ship building ways early in 1940.

Perhaps the answer to why it was not done was a remembrance of what happened after the end of the last war. During that war, too, ships were of the essence, and a tremendous lot were built, steel and wood. After the war ships were a drug on the market—certainly after all the troops had been brought home from France. And most government officials remember the burning of the old wooden ships in the Potomac and other places where they were anchored.

Incidentally those old wooden ships would be a godsend today if they had not been burned, for actually wooden bottoms are better after twenty or twenty five years than steel bottoms after the same period.

Unable to contract for as many tankers as they foresaw they would need, the oil men turned to the pipe line idea. They ran into two separate difficulties. One was that the railroad companies, very influential in some of the states that would have to be traversed, made it difficult for them to get rights of way. But the other is the one the government would now like to forget. The Department of Justice scared the life out of the oil companies by all sorts of threats. One was that any combinations would be prosecuted under the anti-trust laws. Another was warnings about regulations which would be imposed on the operation of the pipe lines.

So now the country is faced with a situation that it needs the pipe lines, lacking enough tankers or the facilities to build them, while there is a serious question whether steel can be spared for them even if other objections can be overcome.

And in any event it will take a long time to build them, even after the various obstacles can be surmounted.

Let's Look Around

A City That Grew From a Vision

—By G. J. KOCHENDERFER

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—Whatever other impressions may be made by this modern Salt Lake City, with its population of 150,000, the one that will be most lasting is that the religious influence of Brigham Young, and the little group of pioneering Mormons that he led into this valley almost a hundred years ago, still pervades city and state in marked degree.

Coming suddenly from the "wide open" conditions which exist throughout Nevada, it requires no more than crossing the state line into Utah to bring realization of a changed attitude toward the "personal liberty" that quite frequently passes bounds of what many regard as good behavior.

Wendover is a little town on the Nevada-Utah line. On the Nevada side there is an array of gambling devices, sale of liquor by the drink—and other evidences of Nevada's liberal laws. On the Utah side there is none of this—and it is the drinkers who are licensed here instead of the liquor sales places.

First glimpse of Utah, in an approach from the west, is startling. Abruptly, from over the brow of a hill, there is a flash of intense whiteness on both sides of the highway and the long stretch of straight road ahead is directly through the Great Salt Desert, with the Bonneville automobile speedway near the Nevada line.

Seen in any other surroundings, the salt beds which extend mile after mile, would be mistaken for snow—rivalling in whiteness the snow-capped mountain peaks visible in the distance.

ENTIRELY aside from his leadership in "The Church of Latter-Day Saints," as the Mormon church is more accurately designated, Brigham Young must be credited with vision and foresight in his design of a city and the magnificent Temple Square in its center.

It was as if Brigham Young, on that July day in 1847, when he looked across this valley from Emigration Canyon and said "This is the place," foresaw the needs of a modern city for wide streets to accommodate motor vehicle traffic.

There was plenty of space, of course, in what was then a desolate spread of arid land, with only one tree growing in the whole area.

So, after choosing a Temple site on what is now Temple Square, the sturdy and determined Mormon leader directed a survey in which the city was laid out in ten-acre blocks, with principal streets allowed width of 132 feet from curb to curb, in addition to ample sidewalk space.

This width of streets seemed profligate in the earlier days of horse-drawn vehicles but is now a matter of envy among many cities harassed by traffic problems resulting from narrow thoroughfares and dangerous intersections.

A VISIT to Temple Square and attendance at a noon organ recital given in the Tabernacle each week day, and at 2 p. m. on Sundays, is an important part of the stopover in Salt Lake City and one that few tourists overlook.

No admission charge is made to the Temple grounds, or to the organ recital, and a sign plainly indicates there will be no collection or acceptance of tips.

It is this great domed Tabernacle, as you may know, with a seating capacity of 8,000, that is regarded as having the finest acoustical properties of any structure of similar size in the world. A pin dropped on the platform in front of the wonderfully-toned organ can be heard to the furthermost parts of the auditorium—we heard it.

SALT LAKE CITY provides a convenient gateway to many of the west's scenic wonderlands—Yellowstone National park, for instance, which we've always wanted to see.

* * *

MUCH has been said about there being no Mormon beggars or tramps—and the way in which this church organization handles its relief problems. This seems worth looking into.

Health and Diet

Various Fungi Cause Ringworm

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

It seems strange that with all the talk we hear nowadays about athlete's foot and ringworm of the skin, that the whole idea that these skin eruptions could be caused by some form of fungus was introduced into the United States as late as 1916, but I find from an article by Dr. Oliver S. Ormsby that he says that ringworm of the hands and feet was practically unknown until 1916 when he and Mitchell reported a group of sixty-five patients in all of whom fungi were demonstrated microscopically. Before that, these eruptions were supposed to be the disturbances of the sweat gland functions, and sometimes were just called eczema.

Cause of Ring Worm.

A great deal of work has been done since then, and it has been found that any region of the skin (not the foot alone) can be infected by ringworm. The cause of ringworm is a sort of fungus, a cob-webby looking plant which infiltrates the lower layers of the skin. It deserves the nick-name "athlete's foot," because common sources of the infection are dressing rooms and shower baths in the athletic departments of schools, and in athletic and country clubs.

At the University of California at the beginning of the school year a group of 3,000 freshmen were examined. Fifty-one per cent had ringworm of the foot. At the end of the first semester seventy-eight per cent of them had ringworm of the foot, an increase of twenty-seven per cent. From the feet, owing to scratching, the finger nails became infected and thus carry the fungus to many parts of the body.

Treatment.

Treatment is not so simple as some people would have you believe. There are many varieties of the fungus and some of them respond to one fungicide and others to others. In the acute stage, with secondary infection, a one to two thousand solution of potassium permanganate used once or twice daily is effective. The old reliable Whitfield's ointment is dependent largely on salicylic acid for its effectiveness and is probably the best all-around preparation.

Tincture of iodine and mercurochrome will be used on other cases. When secondary infection occurs, where the organisms really dig in, treatment may tax the ingenuity of the best dermatologist, and certainly at this stage the dermatologist, rather than home treatment, should be brought in.

Germans Expected to Take Back Part of Poland They Gave Reds

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Uncensored diplomatic dispatches indicate that this time more is taking place between Russia and Germany than the usual Nazi sport of Russian bear-baiting. It looks as if 1,500,000 German troops concentrated along the Soviet border mean a real showdown.

For a year Hitler has followed the strategy of alternately bullying and coaxing Russia in order to get the oil, wheat, and raw materials the German army needs. Sometimes Russia was bribed with chunks of Poland or Rumania, sometimes threatened by concentrations of Nazi troops.

As a result, various agreements have been worked out for supplies, even for the use of German experts to aid Russian industry. But these have been largely paper agreements. In terms of concrete results Russia has coughed up little. She has withdrawn recognition from such conquered countries as Greece and Yugoslavia; made other political gestures. But when it came to shipping oil, there were always excuses.

Now diplomatic dispatches indicate that the showdown may be just around the corner.

Within the past few days Hitler has told his ambassador to demand the return of that part of Poland given Russia in September, 1939 — the bribe which really touched off the war. Hitler also has demanded that Russia turn the Baltic states of Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia over to Germany.

Drive Toward India.

He also wants the return of Bessarabia, given Russia as a bribe when Germany took over Rumania. Finally he is demanding part of the Russian Ukraine, as well as the stationing of Nazi experts in the Russian oil fields and in certain key Russian industries.

Of course, anything can happen in Russia. But if Hitler carries out his threats, it probably means that he will go through southern Russia and the Caucasus, taking the rich oil areas around Baku and Batum, then drive down through Iran to the Indian ocean. This would put Germany on two sides of Syria and Palestine—and the British would be between a new and powerful pincers.

Even more important, Germany then would be on the border of Britain's most coveted of all colonial prizes — India. Providing, of course, Hitler's war machine were successful.

Note—Hitler's present demand that Russia return Poland and Bessarabia probably rates as the choicest irony of the war. Poland, by demanding a part of Czechoslovakia, precipitated the Czech downfall. Then Russia, by taking part of Poland, precipitated Poland's downfall. Now Germany, having swallowed Poland plus the land she took from Czechoslovakia, proposes to swallow Russia—plus the territory she took from Poland.

Capital Chaff.

No literature has provoked more chuckles in the diplomatic corps recently than Secretary Ickes' scathing reply to his uncle-in-law, ex-Ambassador John Cudahy, whom he dubbed "Innocent Abroad" interviewing Hitler. . . . The War department doesn't want newspapers to publish the salaries paid to the new fire inspectors who are to prevent sabotage in factories, although they are posted in Civil Service lists in post offices all over the country. Reason: inspectors will be paid $2,900 to $4,600, which is higher than some commissioned officers. . . . Personalities make a lot of difference even in war. In Syria the British were wise enough to put in the forefront General Catroux, a seasoned veteran, popular with colonial troops. Defending Syria is General Dentz, an intelligence officer, and intelligence officers are not popular in any army.

Al Smith's Visit.

Al Smith's surprise White House visit was more than a 'friendly call." The brown derby champion had a very practical reason for the trip—in fact, two of them.

In the course of his discussion with Roosevelt about all-out aid to Britain (which Smith vigorously supports), he remarked that the proposal to locate some of the overcrowded government offices in New York was very welcome news to office building owners. With a broad grin he added that the mighty Empire State building, which he directs, "could use a good tenant." Smith said a number of floors were available at "reasonable rates."

Laughing heartily at the hint, the president replied that he would pass the information along to the agencies looking for more room.

The other reason for Smith's visit was the intention of his son, Alfred, jr., member of the New York City council, to run for president of the council in November against the son of another prominent Democrat, Senator Robert Wagner. Robert, jr., member of the New York State legislature, has the backing of the powerful American Labor party. He is angling for the endorsement of Mayor La-Guardia and OPM's Sidney Hillman, who as former head of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers influences a big bloc of votes.

Al, sr., has no hopes of winning a LaGuardia-Hillman endorsement for his boy, but he does want to keep them neutral if he can. The fact that he and Roosevelt again are on good terms should help.

Note—Smith also is playing quiet court to La Guardia. Recently they appeared together on a nationwide aid-Britain program.

Liverpool Mick.

No. 1 attraction at a party given by Solicitor General Francis Biddle was Lord Halifax, tall, serious British ambassador. No. 2 attraction was Richard E. Casey, tall, witty Australian minister.

Casey was being introduced by an official of the British Supply commission when they encountered another Casey, Joseph E., young New Deal congressman from Massachusetts.

"Congressman," said the British official, "shake hands with a man by the name of Casey who isn't an Irishman."

"Delighted," said Joseph E. "I didn't know they grew the species outside of Ireland."

Another congressional Hibernian, Senator Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming, chimed in: "It's amazing. Really, Mr. Minister, haven't you any Mick blood in you?"

"Well, if I have," grinned the Auss envoy, "it's quite diluted. My Irish blood comes from five generations back—by way of Liverpool."

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Answering the mail orders: :

Mrs. O. L. M., Watertown, Conn.—There isn't any ruling of selective service officials or the army to defer men over 30 from training. There is a senate bill, which has been favorably reported by the military affairs committee, to defer men 27 or over. Administration leaders in congress want to change this bill to allow the president, by executive order, to establish the draft ages, and the talk is that the army wants to draw all its trainees from the 21-24 age group. The measure will be acted on soon, but until that time selective service boards will continue to act under the original law.

R. K., Bonham, Tex. — Andrew Jackson Houston, 87 on June 21, appointed senator from your state to serve until another is elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Sen. Morris Sheppard, is not only the oldest member of the upper house but oldest person ever to be inducted into the Senate. "Grand Old Man" of the House is Rep. Edward T. Taylor, of Glenwood Springs, Colo., who is 83. With completion of his present term, Congressman Taylor will have served in the House for 34 consecutive years. The oldest elected member of the Senate is Sen. Carter Glass of Virginia, who will be 84 next January. Both Taylor and Glass have "seniors" in the respective bodies. Rep. Adolph J. Sabath of Illinois has served two years longer than Taylor. Sen. Ellison D. "Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina, who has served 32 years, and six other senators have longer service records than Senator Glass.

A. F. S., Fairfield, Ill.—The total number of Civil war veterans alive today is not available here. The veterans administration says a recent check showed 1,673 Union veterans on the pension rolls and showed that 708 had died in the last year.

N. C., Norfolk, Va.—Best guess here is that there will have to be a long drawn-out court battle, ending in the Supreme Court, before it is determined whether Washington's new National airport, at Gravelly Point, is in Virginia or the District of Columbia — and consequently who will get the prize package of gasoline and liquor taxes collected there. In spite of the fact that it is on the Virginia side of the Potomac, there is a lot to be said for Washington's claims — and District Corporation Counsel Richmond B. Keech summed up many of them recently in his opinion that Gravelly Point is in the District. However, Mr. Keech's opinion may not be the court's and interested parties think Virginia and Arlington county will want a court decision before they relinquish their hold on what may turn out to be the sweetest airport tax plum in the country. The fight over the Potomac river boundary between the District and Virginia is almost as old as the District and far too complicated to go into here. It has its roots in ambiguous wordage and a shifting river.

A Farmer's Diary

Village Mechanic

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

IN A GRAY long old building, on a side street of our village, an old mechanic has a repair shop. He is a tall, stooped sandy freckled man—and he is stubborn. That stubbornness makes him a valuable asset to the community.

Our gasoline driven washer was, in its day, the best on the market. But age and movings have taken toll. It jitters now, as though with St. Vitus dance, whenever it performs. It has erratic spells.

Since we look forward to electric power and light within a few weeks, a new motor washer would be extravagant. The other day it stopped.

My wife, who has a certain confidence in my ability as a jack-of-all-trades, waited — the machine full of hot water and wet clothes —for my return from town. I practiced all my usual wiles and a few new ones. No avail. The machine had balked, and nothing could coax it to more than an occasional disgusting sputter.

The water cooled. The afternoon grew late. Our back porch still was piled with dirty clothes. Our children ran industriously about gathering up more dirt.

Now we are really cleanly folks. At least we mentally strain in that direction. We are discriminating about the kind of dirt we condone, and where we condone it. We like clean sheets and clean starched clothes—although we do go in for seer-sucker, and crinkle crepe and jersey and plain suntan because they need no ironing. But a washing machine that will work is one of the priorities. It really looked as though this column might be held up until that washer got going.

To make the story short, I hunted up that grizzled mechanic, the motor on the bumper of my car. He was busy. We left it there, upon his promise to look it over, and went to see about some seed potatoes. When we returned, he had it all apart, but had not located the trouble yet.

"Do you get many jobs like this?" I asked.

"Well, some. I fixed one up last week, but it was a newer model, and was just dirty. This kind is an old timer."

"You do other mechanical work, don't you? Do you work on cars?"

"Well, if you'd come sooner, I wouldn't 'a been here. I was over t' tin' a tractor started for a farmer. I don't have time to keep up on the new model cars — it keeps me busy repairin' older models. If farmers get stuck, they come and get me. Looks like I'll have a job as long as I'll need it. . . . I'm not so young any more."

"But you're much alive," I suggested.

He grinned. "Oh yes—better'n a dead man! Come back this evening."

I did—and he had it fixed.

BRITISH LAUNCH NEW OFFENSIVE IN NORTH AFRICA

Troops Punch Across Egyptian Frontier Into Libya, Also Close In on Damascus.

Beirut, leading the British to predict early capitulation of both capitals in the nine-day-old invasion of Syria and Lebanon.

Nazi warplanes, now openly aiding the hard-pressed Vichy French forces, were reported to have sunk a light British cruiser and damaged a heavy cruiser off the Lebanese coast.

The German high command, in making this claim, also declared that Nazi air formations raided airports on the British-fortified island of Cyprus, 70 miles off the coast of Syria.

Allied troops were said to be clamping down on Damascus from two sides less than five miles from the city's gates, while French troops defending Beirut were forced out of Sidon and back to a line only 12 miles from the Lebanese capital.

Sidon, the French reported, fell before the combined pounding of land forces and British warships offshore and the British said another column driving inland from captured Sidon had taken Djezzine, 12 miles to the east.

Associated Press Correspondent Edward Kennedy said that this column—made up of Australians reinforced by several British regiments—intended to force its way up the Litani river valley to drive a wedge between Damascus and Beirut, headquarters of the French general, Henri Dientz.

The French position at Kissoue, before which the attackers have been stalled for several days, also fell yesterday, the British said. The French denied it and made no acknowledgment of the loss of Djezzine, although acknowledging that the situation in that sector was "confused."

Reports of an imminent break between German and Soviet Russia continued to engross Britons, who were becoming convinced that the talk and the troop movements were designed to veil a new blow at Britain.

The News Chronicle's Ankara correspondent said travelers from Hungary and Rumania reported the odds are "five to one Germany will invade Russia within a fortnight," but the Daily Herald commented: "It is not Russia but the British commonwealth which dominates Hitler's dreams of conquest."

The war at sea had no letdown during the week-end. The British announced the loss of their 50th destroyer—the new 1,690-ton Jersey—but claimed they sank a 6,000-ton supply ship off the Dutch coast.

The Germans said they sank 10 British merchant ships totalling 50,000 tons in the Atlantic, five by air attack and five recently by submarine

The United States, meanwhile, placed on the active service list six Danish ships, the first of a refugee fleet of 84 foreign vessels taken into protective custody in American waters. The remainder, including 28 Italian and two German, will be taken over formally under new legislation as fast as possible, the maritime commission said.

The Germans said Britain's total shipping losses thus far in the war amounted to nearly 12,000,000 tons or more than the toll during the entire World war.

The war in the air went on, too. British bombers attacked several cities in northern and western Germany during the night and there was light, scattered German air activity over England.

RAF warplanes showered explosives on the German industrial cities of Cologne and Hannover, attacked the docks at Nazi-held Dunkerque and scored bomb hits on three German supply ships and a German torpedo boat, the London air ministry reported.

It was the RAF's fifth consecutive night of raiding over Germany in an apparently growing counter-offensive. The Germans admitted some damage to "residential districts."

"Industrial targets were on fire and extensive damage done in the Ruhr and in the Cologne and Hannover areas," a British communique said.

In the Far East, U. S. Ambassador to Japan Joseph C. Grew personally delivered to Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka a sharp note of protest against yesterday's Japanese bombing of Chungking, in which bombs fell in the American safety zone and narrowly missed the U. S. gunboat Tutuila.

Dutch Indies Rejects Japan's Proposal

BATAVIA, NETHERLANDS EAST INDIES—(AP)—The governor-general of these Dutch Pacific possessions, speaking in the midst of an economic crisis with Japan, declared today his government had notified Tokyo it emphatically rejected "any thought" of including them in the Japanese-proposed "new order for East Asia."

Addressing the opening session of the legislative people's council, Governor-General A. W. L. Tjarda Van Starkeborgh Stachouwer recalled Japan's entry into the Rome-Berlin Axis and declared an Axis victory "would spell destruction of the kingdom of the Netherlands."

He asserted further that the East Indies government would guard carefully against direct or indirect "leaks" of war-important raw materials to Germany.

FOUR KILLED

MADISONVILLE, Ky.—(U.P.)—Four persons were killed yesterday when the car in which they were riding crashed into a Nashville bound Southeastern Greyhound bus two miles north of Nebo, Ky.

Dead were William Harvey, 25, his wife, Pearl, 25, of Flat Creek Mines, near here, Marvin Dillback, 27, Fort Knox, Ky., and Marjory O'Neal, 15, Sturgis, Ky. All were passengers in the car, driven by Dillback.

35 ROBIN MOOR SURVIVORS SAFE

All Missing Passengers and Crew Members Landed In Capetown Today.

such wireless notification was not at once known.

The Robin Moor, headed for Capetown with what Washington held to be a non-contraband cargo, was halted by the winking lights of the U-boat's blinked signal at 6 o'clock, Greenwich time, May 21.

The position was south of the Cape Verde Islands, in the Atlantic about midway between Brazil and West Africa. She carried eight passengers, four of whom were Americans. All four were among the group reported reaching Capetown.

"Send a boat with papers . . ." blinked the U-boat's signal.

The Robin Moor asked what ship was making the request and was answered:

"Just submarine."

The freighter then lowered a lifeboat in charge of the chief officer, who was rowed about a mile and a half to the submarine. He carried no ship's papers but identified the American vessel for the submarine commander.

The chief officer went into the submarine, conferred with the commander and was given 20 minutes for crew and passengers to abandon ship. Upon request, this time was extended to a half hour from the time the lifeboat got back to the Robin Moor.

When the ship had been cleared the submarine fired a torpedo amidships, then pounded the remaining wreckage to pieces with some 30 shells from a deck gun.

Rescue News Cheers Mansfield Relatives

Joy reigned today in the homes of Mansfield and Bellville relatives of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McCullough and their two-year-old son Robbin, as they learned that the family, who were aboard the torpedoed American freighter, Robin Moor, had been saved.

"That is certainly heartening news," Mrs. Dwight McCullough said as she learned from The News-Journal that the family was among 35 survivors landed at Capetown, South Africa, today by a British ship.

R. W. McCullough is the nephew of Dwight McCullough, 24½ Helen avenue. He is the grandson of Mrs. Cora Miller of Bellville, with whom he spent his youth, and the grand-nephew of Mrs. G. W. Uhlich, 497 Parkview street, Mansfield.

Confirmation of the rescue came later from the Firestone Rubber company which contacted the survivors in Capetown and advised McCullough's mother in Cleveland who in turn notified Mrs. Miller.

McCullough was on his return journey to South Africa where he was employed by Firestone when the Robin Moor was sunk.

The survivors, despatches said, were disembarked from a British vessel which presumably picked them up from lifeboats in the South Atlantic. Eleven other survivors were rescued by the Brazilian steamer Ozorio and landed at Pernambuco, Brazil.

Safe arrival of the missing 35 at Capetown means that all aboard the Robin Moor have now been rescued.

Rescue of 35 Eases Diplomatic Tension

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Diplomatic tension over the sinking of the American merchantman Robin Moor by a German submarine in the South Atlantic was considerably eased today by the arrival of the 35 missing passengers and crew at Capetown, South Africa, aboard a British ship.

While official quarters felt the rescue in no way relieves Germany of the charge of violating international law in sinking the Robin Moor, the view prevailed that American public opinion will not now consider the incident as grave as if 35 American lives had been lost at sea.

Flies to U. S. to Tell Story of Attack

PERNAMBUCO, Brazil—(U.P.)—Virgil Sanderlin, third engineer of the torpedoed United States liner Robin Moor, leaves by plane today for Washington to tell of his experience when his ship was sunk by a German submarine.

Sanderlin was the only member of the Robin Moor's company present when the submarine commander conversed with the Robin Moor's captain.

with the AFL strike committee in urging the membership to continue their strike for $1.15 instead of $1.12 an hour and continuance of double time pay for overtime instead of time and one half pay.

In a resolution turning down the order of International President Harvey W. Brown to return to work, the local declared:

1—Representatives of the local "have already appeared before the national defense mediation board on two occasions, from which no material benefits have accrued to our members."

2—"This same mediation board has just concluded hearings in the case of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding company and the Bay Cities Metal Trades Council, wherein the board failed to require, or even recommend that Bethlehem comply with and sign the Pacific Coast Master contract which is entirely unsatisfactory to the machinists' union."

3—"To comply with the president's request and order our members to return to work with no satisfactory agreement signed would be a sacrifice of every principle and ideal long cherished by the local, and leave our members completely at the mercy of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding company and any discrimination that they might choose to invoke."

The NDMB hearing ended Saturday in Washington with the announcement that no agreement had been obtained between Bethlehem and the Metal Trades Council. The board stated it would draft recommendations on the Bethlehem case shortly. A closed shop has been the major point of disagreement.

50,000 Unionists Vote 2-Year Strike Ban

CAMDEN, N. J. —(INS)— The two-year no-strike agreement for east coast shipyards, proposed by the Office of Production Management, as a measure of national defense stood approved today by union representatives of 50,000 workers.

Delegates from thirty-three locals of the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, CIO, recorded their votes yesterday in favor of the agreement at a meeting in Camden's labor headquarters.

The stabilization pact affects 55 ship building plants on the east coast and provides for wage increases of about 12 per cent. Ship Building workers in New York, Philadelphia, New England and the Baltimore-Norfolk areas joined in the almost unanimous vote of approval cast for the agreement. Out of 66 union delegates only two voted against adoption.

Strike Legislation Showdown Nears

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Congress moves toward a showdown this week on anti-strike legislation with some influential members declaring that nothing with "teeth" in it will be written into the law without administration approval.

The house military affairs committee, apparently determined to recommend a bill containing drastic authority for the administration to curb strikes, may complete action on a measure today, and seek passage later in the week.

The committee, which already has approved a proposal to permit use of army to break picket lines, is expected to report a bill authorizing the president to seize defense industries and operate them to curb strikes, together with a provision "blacklisting" union officials calling strikes in defiance of mediation.

WORK ON BUDGET

City Officials To Complete Fund Figures By Wednesday.

First draft of the 1942 budget for the city of Mansfield will be completed Wednesday, Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton announced today.

Crafton said that a public hearing of the budget would probably be held at the July meeting of City Council on Tuesday, July 1. No indication of any proposed raises or decreases was given by the director.

Council must pass an approved budget before July 15 and must send it to County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe by July 20. Wolfe will present it to the county budget commission for approval and will then adapt its figures for the county's budget.

Using the approved county budget, Wolfe will then figure the tax rate for the coming year. The rate must be announced by Sept. 1.

DEATH CLAIMS IRENE FRANKLIN

Once 'Darling of Broadway' Dies In New Jersey Hospital.

ENGLEWOOD, N. J. —(INS)— Irene Franklin, once the darling of Broadway, died today at Englewood hospital in her 57th year. Miss Franklin was stricken last week with a cerebral hemorrhage. She had been in retirement for several years.

Many veterans of the first World war will recall Miss Franklin as a volunteer entertainer who sang in their encampments in France.

Miss Franklin's voice was not her only claim to fame. She was a successful songwriter in her own right, having composed "The Waitress From Childs," "Red Head" and "I Knew Her When."

PREDICT RECORD

Bank Forecasts Sales In Ohio To Set New Mark.

CLEVELAND — (U.P.) — The monthly business review of the Central National bank today forecast that retail sales in Ohio for this year will set an all-time record, surpassing by 6 per cent the existing record established in 1929.

The bulletin predicted 1941 sales will total $3,200,000,000 compared with $2,865,000,000 last year.

The bulletin estimated that 200,000 jobs have been filled by private industry in the state during the past 18 months, lifting the state's total employment to 1,900,000 men and women.

HITS EMPLOYERS

COLUMBUS— (AP) —Some Ohio employers, because of "misguided patriotism," are not supplying full information about workers engaged in defense production so that local draft boards can defer them, said Lt. Col. C. W. Goble, state selective service head. Goble explained that employers could contribute more to defense by retaining such workers.

crossing a bridge. Miss Ondo was admitted to Galion City hospital.

In a second accident near Galion, late yesterday, three other motorists were injured. Miss Ruby Payne, 477 South Pierce street, Galion, was treated for a shoulder injury received in a collision on route 30-S east of Galion. She was riding with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Guinther, of near Galion, whose car collided with another driven by Charles Johnson of Galion.

The collision occurred when Guinther attempted to make a left turn. Mr. and Mrs. Guinther received cuts and lacerations about the face and head. Johnson and several passengers received no injuries in the crash.

An automobile-truck collision near Marietta killed Dwain and Annis Williams, 14 and 10 respectively, both of Parkersburg, W. Va.

Their mother, Mrs. R. L. Williams, 44, and their sister, Margaret, 3, were critically injured. Paul Williams, 21, their brother and driver of the motor car, was hurt slightly.

A New York Central passenger train struck a circus tractor-trailer at Conneaut, killing Paul Miller, 39, of Charlotte, Mich., an elephant trainer for the Lewis Brothers circus. Two elephants also were killed.

Other fatalities included:

Delaware—Elmer Macken, 62, in grade crossing accident.

Akron—Stanley W. Thrash, 33, in motorcycle's crash into pole.

Toledo—Dwight W. Hummon, 42, of Findlay, of injuries in June 5 collision.

Columbus—Leroy M. Clemons, 19, of Grove City, in ditched motor car.

Springfield—Delbert Davis, 54, a farm hand, struck by automobile.

Dayton—Ronald Weimer, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Weimer, run over by bus.

Ravenna—Esther Rose Gigante, 22 months, daughter of Mrs. Mary Gigante, in ditched automobile.

Four Ohioans were drowned over the week-end, three of them in boating accidents.

An overturned rowboat brought death to Daniel Becker, 17, and Donald Lee Bateson, 16, both of Perrysburg, in the Maumee river. They had rowed to Garden island to consult a resident about patching a leak in their boat, and were returning in a borrowed craft when the accident occurred. Both bodies were recovered.

An attempted kiss was blamed for the drowning of Marian Varga, 19, in Summit lake at South Akron. Her 23-year-old escort told police that Miss Varga shoved him as he tried to kiss her, causing their canoe to upset. He was rescued by other canoeists and jailed while firemen sought the body.

Falling into a spring on a farm near McConnellsville, Mrs. George Earich, 62, drowned in three feet of water.

FORMAL SERVICE READ FOR MISS JANE MEYERS

Following Reception for Seventy-Five Guests at the Home of Bride's Parents Couple Left for Short Southern Trip.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON in a formal gown of white marquisette Miss Jane Dorene Meyers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen H. Meyers, 662 West Third street, became the bride of Leonard William Burkholder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray N. Burkholder, 139 Rowland avenue. Two seven branch candelabra, large beauty baskets of gladioli and an attractive arrangement of palms and ferns decorated the altar of St. Paul's Lutheran church for the single ring ceremony which was performed at 4 p. m. by Rev. R. Showalter, pastor of the First Church of the Brethren of Lincoln Heights. Rev. H. L. Gilbert of St. Paul's Lutheran church assisted during the service.

Miss Meyers, escorted by her father, was attired in a white marquisette gown with a full, flaring skirt. White lace insertions and a sweetheart neckline were featured in the fitted bodice which buttoned in the back to the waist. Her double-caped finger-tip veil was attached to a beaded juliet headpiece. She carried an arm bouquet of white larkspur, roses and carnations.

Attired in a pasted pink marquisette gown with balloon sleeves and a full skirt, Miss Gynedd Meyers, Columbus, sister of the bride, served as maid-of-honor. She carried an arm bouquet of blue delphinium with pink roses and carnations in the center and wore a pink shoulder length veil attached to a halo of flowers on her head. Miss La Nola, Mansfield, was here sister's bridesmaid. She wore a heaven blue frock of marquisette fashioned in the same style as that of the maid-of-honor. Her arm bouquet was of pink roses with light blue delphinium and pink carnations in the center.

Hugh Sturgeon, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, served as Mr. Burkholder's best man. Ushers were Theron Meyers, brother of the bride, and Richard Falk. Preceding the ceremony nuptial music was played by Miss Louise Seybold, organist. She offered "Because" by D'Hardelot, "Liebestraum" by Liszt, "Ave Maria" by Bach Gounod and "O Promise Me" by De Koven. The traditional wedding marches were played during the ceremony. Mrs. Meyers appeared at her daughter's wedding in a navy blue sheer frock with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias. The mother of the groom, Mrs. Burkholder, also wore a corsage of gardenias on a sheer leaf-green frock with white accessories.

The bride and groom are both graduates of Mansfield Senior high school. She is employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company and the groom is an employe of the Kroger company. Following the ceremony a reception was held for 75 guests at the home of the bride's parents. Dinner was served buffet style. The table was decorated with peonies and roses. After a short southern motor trip the couple will reside at 57½ South Mulberry street. For traveling the bride wore a navy redingote with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rice and family, Columbus, Miss Fannie Rice, Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Egleston, Chardon, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Meyers, Barberton, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hartsough and family, Seville, Mrs. Guy Boldman and family, West Salem, Mr. and Mrs. Don Cover and family, Lexington, Mrs. Kate Crouthamel, Perkasie, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Minnich of Union City, Ind.

Observe Flag Day At Jared Chapter D. A. R. Meeting

Jared Mansfield chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution celebrated Flag day with their annual picnic when Mrs. John Shook entertained 40 members and guests. She was assisted by Mrs. A. J. Fraser, Mrs. Howard McClure and Mrs. Robert Jones.

Guests included Mrs. R. M. Gage, Mrs. Tolman Burns and Mrs. Floyd Davis, all of Mansfield; Mrs. J. E. Nixon of Portland, Ind.; Mrs. Thomas D. Cowley of Baltimore, Md.; and four of the girls who participated in the Good Citizenship Pilgrimage contest conducted by the chapter, Miss Mary Beer, Miss Maxine Mitchell, Miss Thelma Fisher and Miss Geraldine McMeeken. Pins and certificates were given to these girls.

A memorial service for the late Miss Esther Rhodes was conducted by Mrs. H. L. Creveling. The past regents' club presented a D. A. R. flag holder and a silk flag to be used at chapter meetings.

Following the patriotic opening Mrs. Shook, chaplain, led the devotions and Mrs. Stanley Richardson, regent, conducted the business meeting.

Members were asked to do Red Cross work and support the United Service Organization drive. For the program Mrs. Richardson read an address given by Mrs. Henry M. Robert, jr., retiring president general, at the last Continental Congress in Washington.

winner, took second place in the ladies' three-gate class in a field of 10. Mrs. Roger Black was the rider-up for the event. The same horse won third in the model three-gaited class, second in the combination harness-saddle three-gaited class, and fourth in the open three-gaited competition.

Virginia Dare, another Black entry, placed third in the misses' three-gaited class in which the riders were all girls under 16. Miss Frances Boise handled the entry. In the same class, Raemelton Tony, with Miss Barbara Bailey up, won fourth prize.

Another Mansfield entry in the same class was Malabar Tony, owned by Miss Bromfield.

Virginia Dare placed fifth in the open three-gaited class, while Barrister Feather, another Black-owned horse, was third in the junior five-gated competition. Sally Bourbon, owned and handled by Hardin of the Raemelton club, took fourth place in the fine harness class.

Probably the most popular winner of the afternoon judging from the applause she received, was Miss Eleanor Kilgore of Canton whose Miss Prudence won first prize in the junior five-gaited class and fourth place in the open five-gaited class.

Miss Kilgore, a small girl clad in a trim riding habit, rode in a number of events and always had the crowd with her. Her expert handling of horses and riding form brought her round after round of applause.

Another popular winner was Miss Joan Center of Columbus who rode her Starlight Lady to a first prize and two seconds.

Between events, exhibition was given by a two-year-old stallion owned by S. Glen Vinson, Mansfield. The animal exhibited championship form in a walking exhibition. Vinson is president of the Raemelton Riding club, sponsor of the show.

Little tow-headed Connie Linham of Portsmouth won the crowd's favor with her pony act, displaying the intelligence of Rix-Rack, her silver-white pony.

The animals were judged by Sam Haynes of Columbus, one of the country's leading authorities on horses. Frank Kirkpatrick of Columbus was ringmaster. Stewarts in charge of the show were H. S. Caldwell, H. N. Keene and Harvey B. Bailey.

Trophies were donated by Louis Bromfield, J. Reynolds Hodgson, James Bailey, S. Glenn Vinson, Hiram Caldwell and James M. Hill.

James Bailey, chairman of the show committee, expressed regret that a large number of ticket holders were unable to get into the amphitheater or were forced to stand during the three-and-a-half-hour show.

"We were sorry it had to happen that way and thank the people for their tolerance and the good-natured way they accepted the difficulties," he said.

Convention Held By Nature Clubs Over Week-End

League of Ohio Nature clubs held their annual meeting over the week end at Marion with the Marion club, The Burroughs Nature club as hostess. The Kellogg Audubon club of Mansfield was represented at the convention by Mrs. H. M. Spandau. Mansfield Nature club members were represented by L. S. Barr, Philip Steir, Miss Leona Miles, Miss Virginia Howard, Mrs. Albert Wiseman, Miss Mary Stofer, Miss Faye Cisco.

After a short business meeting the group was conducted on a geology field trip in Delaware county, the leader being Dr. Lewis G. Westgate, professor emeritus of geology of Ohio Wesleyan university. On Saturday evening in Delaware Judge Guy M. Findley of Elyria, president of the Ohio Forestry Commission spoke to the group on the great need of plantations of trees throughout the state.

Arthur R. Harper, field supervisor of conservation education of the State Department of Education conducted "Bird Skule," giving information for identifying various birds. Bird and tree hikes were then conducted by Mr. Harper and Edward S. Thomas, Curator of Natural History of Ohio State Museum. At the close of the meeting the officers for the ensuing year were announced.

Local Artists Present Program at Reception In Honor of Miss Sarah Catherine Wallace and Fiance, Homer Eldred, Sunday Evening.

HONORING Miss Sarah Catherine Wallace and her fiance, Homer Eldred of Cleveland, whose wedding will be an event of next Saturday, was the formal reception given last evening by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jameson, 71 Blymyer avenue. More than fifty guests were received by the honorees, Mr. and Mrs. Jameson and Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Wallace, parents of the bride-to-be. A background of palms and ferns formed an attractive setting for the receiving line and a profusion of garden flowers in the pastel colors decorated the home.

During the evening a musical program was given by a group of local artists and friends of the bride-elect. Miss Elizabeth Austin, who has spent the past year in New York studying voice, sang "A Pastoral" by Veracini, "Parla" by Arditi and "Maid of Cadiz" by Delibes. Miss Thelma Reed, pianist, played "Minuet" by Kirk Ridge, "Marche" by Prokofieff and "Malaguena" by Lecuonna.

Mrs. Jameson, the hostess, favored the guests with a vocal selection, "Eliland (A Cycle)" by Von Fielitz. This was followed by a group of original compositions played piano duets, "Concert Arthen sang "Long and Long Ago" by Maley, "Pipes on the Hill" by Wargg and "Russian Nightingale" by Alaviess.

Mrs. George Hall and Miss Reed played piano duests, "Concert Arrangement of La De Purple" by Rose and "Manhattan Serenade" by Alter. Mrs. Hall accompanied the soloists. Later John Grabler led the group singing of old favorites.

For the party the honoree appeared in a formal white chiffon gown and was presented with a bouquet of mixed flowers. Mrs. Jameson wore a summer formal of red which was fashioned with a tight bodice and full skirt. Mrs. Wallace's dress was a dark sheer evening gown.

At the close of the evening refreshments were served at a long table centered with a unique arrangement of white carnations and a pottery bowl filled with gold fish.

ATTEND MEET.

Two local musicians will attend the 59th annual state convention of Ohio Music Teachers association being held Tuesday and Wednesday in Cleveland. Prof. Eugene Weinberger will speak at the conference Tuesday on the subject "The Art and Problems of Teaching Violin." Miss Florence MacDonald, chairman of the voice section of the convention, will also attend the meetings.

D. A. R. Regent Installed at Last Meeting of Year

Mary Washington chapter, D. A. R., held a picnic luncheon Saturday at the Women's Club. After the luncheon which was served at a long table decorated with a centerpiece of red roses, the retiring regent, Mrs. Weston Cutter, conducted a short business session.

During this session Mrs. Cutter installed Mrs. D. N. Roller as regent for the coming season. Mrs. Roller announced her standing committees for the year and appointed a program committee composed of Mrs. David Feiser, Mrs. W. L. Miller and Mrs. F. A. Weaver.

One guest, Miss Emily Dick, Cleveland, attended the meeting. Hostesses for the luncheon, which was the last regular meeting of the year, were Mrs. Fred Herring, Mrs. Robert Black, Mrs. W. G. Moore, and Mrs. William Seiler. Meetings will be resumed some time in September.

TO ALL AMERICANS who have not been Drafted

Tonight, when the sun goes down, it will set not only on homes but on army camps, naval stations and defense outposts.

It will set on one and a half million young men in uniform. Most of them will be far from home. Many of them will be in places remote from towns and cities.

What their life will be like after the sun goes down depends largely on you.

These men need clubs . . . places where they can go for recreation and comfort in the evening . . . places where they can rest and relax and enjoy good companionship . . . places where they can have help and advice if they want it.

To provide such service clubs six of America's most experienced organizations have banded together to form the U.S.O. (comprising the Y.M.C.A.; National Catholic Community Service; Salvation Army; Y.W.C.A.; Jewish Welfare Board; National Traveler's Aid Association.)

The U.S.O. will set up more than 360 of these clubs. The Government will supply the buildings . . . but to the American public belongs the responsibility of running them and financing them. The cost for the first year is estimated at $10,765,000.

So, to you who have not been drafted, we say . . . here is the chance you have been waiting for to aid in national defense. And if you are getting more than $21 a month yourself, see if you can't share some small part of it to make life more pleasant for those who have been drafted.

Will you join the Army behind the army?

Say yes . . . today!

Ceremony Performed On Anniversary of Relatives

Miss Mildred Ruth Tipper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Tipper, 490 Springmill street, chose the 23rd wedding anniversary of her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Woolard, for her marriage to Van Arthur Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ancel Ross, Croton, Ohio. The ceremony was performed Sunday at 2 p. m. before the altar of the First Methodist church by Rev. E. G. Corwin.

For the informal service, which was attended by the immediate families, the bride wore a white silk, jersey dress with luggage tan accessories and corsage of roses. The altar was decorated with beauty baskets of garden flowers and an attractive arrangement of palms and fern. Attending Miss Tipper was her cousin, Miss Jeany Lou Tipper, who wore a navy blue lace frock with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias and delphinium. William Payne, Croton, served as best man.

Mr. Tipper appeared at her daughter's wedding in a navy blue sheer frock with white accessories and wore a corsage of pink rose buds. The groom's mother, Mrs. Ross, was attired in a green silk crepe dress with white accessories and wore a corsage of yellow rose buds. The bride is a graduate of Mansfield Senior High school and has been employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. Mr. Ross who is an agriculturist was graduated from Hartford High school.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for members of the immediate families and relatives at the home of the bride's parents. The table was centered with a large wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Pink and white appointments and garden flowers were placed throughout the room. Later the couple left for a wedding trip through northern Michigan. After June 25 the couple will reside in Croton.

Miss Lenora Horn led the devotions. Harry Constance gave a report on the work done by the organization on Memorial day. Members will attend the Federated convention, June 22, in Columbus. An afternoon and evening meeting will be held July 27 at North park. Dinner will be served at 5:30 p. m.

Former Local Girl Feted Saturday At Susie Janis Home

Miss Dorothy Hood, former Mansfield girl, who is now residing in Cleveland, was feted Saturday afternoon at the Susie Janis home by friends from Mansfield and Shelby. Ten guests attended the affair which was a salad-bridge and bathroom shower. Preceding the bridge game a light luncheon was served the guests at small tables decorated with garden flowers.

Two tables of bridge were in play during the afternoon. Prizes were won by Miss Dorothy Hood, Miss Margaret Mayer and Mrs. Jack Kennedy. After the play the guests presented the honoree with gifts. The hostesses, Miss Margaret St. John and Miss Jane Mayer, of Shelby, presented her with bathroom accessories. Miss Hood will become the bride of Raymond Baum of Lakewood June 21.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

There was something in Philip Veritzen's voice which made it almost impossible for me to continue outlining my plan to him. But from somewhere I pumped up the courage to go steadily on.

"I wish to station my father's guards in strategic hidden positions in the bedroom, and in this suite connecting,' I said. "Then I shall go to the French doors, put back the curtains, and open the doors just the width of the night chain."

"Which a child could open," the owner of the Lansfield said contemptuously. "I saw that when I closed the curtains, and I shall call Milner to account for it tomorrow."

"But the man on the balcony will not open the doors until the room is in darkness," I went on, as if I had not been interrupted, "and until he thinks I have had time to get to sleep.

Veritzen Objects.

"So, then I shall go to the telephone," I continued, "call the operator, and ask her to ring me in half an hour, saying that I am so tired I must have a nap before I rejoin my nieces party. And then, having made sure that my father's men are within leaping distance of the man they aim to capture, I shall turn out the lights and lie down."

"You will do nothing of the kind," Philip Veritzen said, and there was steel in the finality of his voice. I rallied my strength and will power to meet his determination, and then I suddenly received most effectual aid from an unexpected quarter.

"She is right, my Philip," his wife said. 'I can see her problem. This man must be captured in order to insure that he does not get a chance to communicate with the beasts who are holding Mary. He must not get the slightest suspicion that anything has gone wrong with his plans until the men leap upon him.

"If anybody else save Madge was apparently asleep in that bed, he might discover it by just the margin necessary to enable him to make his escape. She must go through this plan she has so cleverly made, and we must not interfere."

"But, Good God!" he ejaculated, "don't you know that Madge will be in the greatest danger? She will be within reach of that fiend, and if he senses the slightest suspicious movement anywhere, his first savage instinct will be either to kill her, or to snatch her up and use her body as a shield while he makes his escape to the balcony. He, no doubt, will be captured, but where will Madge be?"

"It will be dark," Veritzen went on, "when he comes into the room. Do you mean that if a man were lying on the bed he would discover it before the men in the room could seize him?"

"Probably not," Olga acknowledged serenely. "But there is a distinct possibility that he might find it out before they could reach him. And I see Madge's viewpoint that she cannot take that chance.

Her husband capitulated promptly.

"All right," he said, with a gesture of surrender. "But this must be mapped very carefully, with no chance of mistake. Will you go on with your plan, Madge?"

"There is nothing else," I said. "My father's men will be within leaping distance of the gangster, and I shall try to keep my brain functioning when he comes to waken me—as he thinks—and to demand the letter. For the rest I shall have to depend upon chance and my wits."

Yields Under Protest.

He was silent for a long second. Then he gave a stubborn gesture of negation.

"I don't like it," he said, "but I cannot hope to battle two iron wills such as Olga's and yours. So I yield, but protesting strongly.'

He gave his wife his never-failing tribute of a tender smile, but there was nothing of softening in his face as he turned to me. I knew that he would not soon forgive my disobedience.

"If you two will go back now to the other room through this secret door," he said, "I will come to the outside door as soon as I have finished instructing the guards about the arrival of your father's men."

Individual Meat Loafs Tasty Dish

By BETSY NEWMAN

Warmer weather calls for pepper-uppers of appetites. Individual meat loaves meet this need, and you can serve besides fresh greens, "garden sass," etc. Refreshing ices and creams can be made from either fresh or cooked fruits and berries.

Today's Menu.

Individual Meat Loaves
Baked Potatoes Dandelion Greens
Watercress Salad
Orange Ice Cinnamon Jam Bars
Coffee or Tea

* * *

Individual Meat Loaves.

2 lbs. ground veal
1 egg, slightly beaten
4 tablespoons chopped onion
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon papper

Combine ingredients and divide into six portions. Place each part on waxed paper and pat into oblong sheet ½ inch thick. Spread evenly with the following dressing. Roll meat around it, shape into a loaf and put in greased baking pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 to 40 minutes, until baked through and nicely browned.

* * *

Stuffing.

1 cup cereal
1 tablespoon minced parsley
¼ cup minced celery
2 tablespoons minced onion
Salt, pepper to taste
½ cup cooked rice(brown rice is good
1½ teaspoons poultry dressing
⅛ teaspoon savory
4 tablespoons fat
¼ cup hot water or meat stock

Put crumbled shredded cereal and parsley into mixing bowl. Saute onion and celery in fat, stir in rice, add to cereal with seasonings. Moisten with hot water or stock, mix thoroughly, but lightly.

* * *

Orange Ice.

1 cup water
2 cups sugar
2 cups orange juice
2 tablespoons water
Grated rinds of 3 oranges
½ cup lemon juice
1½ tablespoons gelatin

Dissolve gelatin in 2 tablespoons water. Make syrup of water and sugar, boil 5 minutes, remove from fire, stir in soaked gelatin, stir to dissolve. Add strained orange and lemon juices, cool and freeze. Serves 8.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

BY

"The Authority on Authorities"

STUDY COMBINATIONS

Your understanding of the game can be greatly increased if you will devote some solitary study to the deck of cards with which you play. Not only will it enable you to understand why certain recommended plays are winning plays, but it will in some instances change your entire ideas about how to play particular combinations. Don't use just a deck of cards. Also get out some paper and a pencil, so you may make compilations of the facts you discover and then calculate chances for and against certain moves.

Suppose you have in the dummy a six-card suit headed by the A-Q-10, and wish to bring in every trick in the suit. The way you play depends on how many little ones you hold. Of course, if you have six, the side holds 12, so the K must drop under the A. But if you have five and the first defender follows suit, you want to know whether to play the Q or the A. Lacking information to the contrary, the chances favor playing the A. At that stage, one defender has one less card than his partner, so the odds are 12 to 11, 11 to 10, 10 to 9, and so on, depending on how late in the play it occurs.

If you have four little ones, and the first defender plays small, your best play it the Q. After he follows, there are four ways the suit may be distributed—with the first man having only the small one, with him holding it and the J. it and the K or all three cards which belong to the opponents. With the first of these, you have a chance to catch the K, so forget that distribution. With the second, the A play will drop the singleton K, but will lose otherwise. With the last two, the Q play wins and the A play loses. Hence the chances are about 2 to 1 in favor of the finesse.

Carry this out to where you have three little ones, the defenders having four cards, and the Q play, followed on the next round by the A, is best against the eight possible distributions after a small card has been played by the first opponent. If, however, you cut down your number of cards to two, so that the opponents then have five, you will do better in the long run by playing the 10 after the first defender follows suit, and finessing the Q the next time. The same applies also when you have only one card, the defenders consequently having six.

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, June 17.

With enterprise and initiative brought to bear on new and important ventures there is much promise for a very progressive and productive day. It is a time for pushing with zeal and determination toward high goals of achievement, in either some activity involving the public welfare or in purely private enterprises. There should be fine cooperation from those in high places, who may be impressed by the merit of propositions submitted to them although the element of friendship may figure as well. Finances should be under an expansive rule.

Those whose birthday it is may find their fortunes and accomplishments under a very productive and progressive influence, if they will but direct their talents, energies and initiative into important constructive channels. Major projects of worth are sure to win the support of those in influence and power, either through strictly business contact or by the intervention of friends of prestige. It is probable that this enterprise may have public interest as its incitement, or else outstanding achievement may win public recognition. The financial status is enhanced by such expansive and worthy vibration.

A child born on this day should be extremely energetic, aggressive, public-spirited and magnanimous, winning its way by friendly interests as well as its inherent talents.

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

Rain has washed out so much of the sport calendar in the past week that it's just about washed out the sport pages as well, and don't be surprised if it washes out the old Sport Podge one of these fine muggy days.

You can't talk forever about something that doesn't exist, and sports can't exist long in the swamps that once were baseball diamonds, tennis courts and golf courses.

Bill Snypp, checking up in the Lima News, discovers that the Pandas have been able to play only 10 home games this season because of the weather, and suggests that the Ohio State league play all of its games indoors.

That's where the best golf is played—indoors at that 19th hole. But of course there's no 19th hole for baseball, so the Ohio Staters will have to do their playing in the shade of the umbrella stand.

* * *

In the shade of the umbrella stand,
Where the pitching and catching are grand,
All the hits clear the walls,
And there ain't no foul balls,
In the shade of the umbrella stand.

Paul Bixler, assistant Ohio State university grid goach, must have known what he was talking about when he told the Pan-Hells of Mansfield recently that Johnny Hallabrin would do a lot of punting this summer.

Johnny is staying on at Columbus for the summer term and the coaches will be able to see to it that he does a lot of punting. They're counting on him to do most of the Buck booting next fall.

There's a pretty fair sort of a ball player working the second trick at Tappan's these days, and playing no ball. His name is Nick Weber and he's just finished a successful season as captain, third baseman and leading hitter of the University of Tennessee team.

Nick has a good offer to return to Knoxville as an assistant high school coach next fall for the full seven-months' term, but faces the possibility of being caught in the draft in August.

Yankees Hit Hot Streak

Seven-Game Win String Has Tribe Trembling.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(AP Sports Writer)

THE New York Yankees are scourging the American league again with a sizzling seven-game winning streak that has the Cleveland Indians trembling.

At various times this year the Yanks have been good, bad and indifferent, but right now they are hotter than a Harlem swing band.

* * *

Yesterday they polished off the Indians for the sixth time in nine meetings this season and reduced the Tribe's margin at the top of the league to two games. They had proved Saturday that Bob Feller was not invincible, and they came right back against young Jim Bagby and won, 3-2, before 43,962 fans.

The Sunday baseball program as a whole drew a turnout of 186,782, including capacity crowds at Boston in the American League and St. Louis in the National.

The Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers were fighting for first place, and 34,543 spectators saw the pair divide a double-header.

Kirby Higbe pitched seven-hit ball and Lew Riggs batted in four runs, three on a ninth-inning homer, as the Dodgers won the opener, 8-1. Then Ernie White retaliated with a two-hit mound job to take the nightcap, 3-0.

A throng of 34,500 at Boston saw the Red Sox sweep two games from the Chicago White Sox 8-6 and 6-4.

* * *

The Philadelphia Athletics battered the St. Louis Browns, 10-4, with a 14-hit offensive and an eight-hit pitching job by Johnny Babich.

* * *

Washington and Detroit divided their bargain bill, the Senators gaining a 7-5 triumph in the first contest and the Tigers getting a 4-2 victory before darkness halted play after six innings of the nightcap.

The Cincinnati Reds took a strong hold on third place in the National League by nailing the New York Giants, 5-2 and 6-3.

The Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Phillies split their twin bill, the Cubs winning the first game 6-0 and the Phillies the second 8-4.

The Boston Braves beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-1. Rain halted the second game in the third inning.

SURPRISE SHUFFLE MOVES DAHLGREN

CHICAGO —(INS)— Babe Dahlgren, former fancy-fielding New York Yankee first baseman, who was traded to the Boston Braves earlier this year in a surprise deal, came to the Chicago Cubs today in a straight cash transaction.

* * *

Purchase of Dahlgren from the Braves for an undisclosed sum was announced by Bruin General Manager James T. Gallagher just before the Major League trading deadline.

* * *

Dahlgren will fill a bad hole in the Cubs' defense, and probably will also give the Bruins additional punch. With Boston Dahlgren batted .227 in 42 games, knocked in 29 runs, and hit six homers.

FILMS HIT RECORD

BERLIN —(INS)— More than a billion people have visited German movie houses during the past year setting a new record, officials of the Nazi film industry disclosed. The gain was made despite blackouts and shorter performances, it was said.

FRANKIE PARKER PINKS M'NEILL

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—Unpredictable Frankie Parker of Spring Lake, N. J., today wore the Triple A Invitational Tennis Singles crown. Bearing down all the way, he defeated National Champion Don McNeill of Oklahoma City in straight sets, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2, in yesterday's final.

Collins Enters Scioto Joust

Mansfield Pro Tries For Spot in P. G. A.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — A field of more than 50 Ohio professional golfers, seeking the six berths allotted the Buckeye state in the National P G. A. tournament early in July, teed off today at Scioto Country club in the 36-hole qualifying round.

The fortunate sextet at the end of today's grind will represent Ohio at Cherry Hills Country club, Denver, Col., July 7-13 when Byron Nelson, of Toledo Inverness, defends his 1940 PGA crown. Nelson, being the defending champion, will be the only major Ohio professional not in the field today, however, the rugged Texan has intimated that he may play the 36-hole qualifier just to keep in practice for the annual Inverness round-robin classic which opens in Toledo Thursday.

Big names in the field include Billy Burke, the former National Open champion; Tony Penna, of Dayton; T. Phil Perkins, former British amateur champion now professional at Kirtland; Al Espinosa, of Akron; Lloyd Gullickson, Congress Lake; Jock Collins, Mansfield; Clar. Gaddie, Frank Gelhot and Art Smith, all of Cincinnati; Herman Keiser, Akron; Louis Chiapetta, of Toledo, and George Howard, of Canton.

Other strong contenders will include Al Alcroft and Johnny Malutic, of Youngstown; Jock Willoweit, Gene Marchi and Tommy Bryant, of Dayton, and the following Columbus pros: Norm Butler, Scioto; Tommy Heston, Indian Springs; Charlie Lorms, Columbus Country club; Bob Kepler, of University, and Francis Marzolf, of Wyandot.

Harry Moffitt, of Toledo, president of the Ohio PGA, and Charles "Cap" Clark, of Cleveland, secretary-treasurer, will be in charge of the tourney

Grodzicki Hurls For Redbirds

(By Associated Press)

Manager Burt Shotton of Columbus has a dual purpose in mind in sending big Johnny Grodzicki, 24-year-old ace pitcher, against Minneapolis tonight in the red-hot American Association race.

The Redbirds must win to retain first place. Grodzicki, who won his sixth straight mound decision only last Friday, is Shotton's best bet to take the game.

The Millers have won four straight and are tied with Columbus on won-lost calculations, but still trail by six points.

Victories for both Kansas City and Louisville tonight would drop the loser of the Miller-Birds' clash from first to fourth—the race is that close. The tightening up came yesterday when Kansas City and Columbus split a doubleheader while Louisville and Minneapolis swept twin bills.

The Blues whipped the Birds, 1 to 0, in the opener, but Columbus took the seven-inning nightcap, 4 to 1.

Minneapolis won a 3 to 2 victory over Indianapolis in its first game and took an easy 9 to 6 decision in the nightcap.

Louisville matched this fast pace by walloping St. Paul twice, 9 to 2 and 1 to 0.

Milwaukee broke a six-game losing streak by sweeping a twin bill with Toledo, 4 to 1 and 6 to 3.

LANGHURST GETS JOBS

MIDDDLETOWN, Conn.—(AP)—Ohio State university's Jim Langhurst, football star being graduated this week, already has a job waiting—as freshman football coach at Wesleyan university here.

Leading Jockey McCreary Is Husky Mite

Conn McCreary, the leading jockey of the year, weighs only 91 pounds, boots and all, but he has the physique of a middleweight. He is four feet, eight inches tall. His chest is 36 inches and has he has six-inch wrists. He rode 19 winners at the recent Belmont meeting.

SPORTS GOSSIP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service)—For the life of us we can't see why, but plenty of people around this man's town are giving Billy Conn a better-than-fair chance to become the heavyweight champion of the world next Wednesday night. . . . Today's sports quiz: Why do baseball historians call 1925 the "year without an equal?" (Answer later). . . . They had better get Zeke Bonura out of the army. His Minneapolis pals blew five straight just like that and muffed the league lead.

BELIEVE-IT-OR-NOT.

Here's an odd play . . . the Danville and Martinsville teams were playing down in Virginia. Shortstop Ayvazion of Martinsville hit the ball to Pitcher Bob Durham . . . in attempting to field it, Durham kicked the ball on the fly back to Catcher Daniels who, in turn, threw to first for the put-out.

FROM NEAR AND FAR.

Forget that stuff about Greyhound being lame. Trainer Sep Palin says his great trotter is as good as ever . . . The "guys and dolls" of Broadway, made famous by Damon Runyan in movies and stories, will honor Damon with a midnight broadcast tonight just before his latest picture, "Tight Shoes," is previewed at the Ziegfeld theater. . . . Los Angeles, which wanted the 1942 bowling congress tournament, will have to wait since Columbus (O.) has next year's event sewed up and the betting is either Atlantic City or Buffalo will entertain the keglers in 1943. . . . Sports quiz answer: Because it's the only season in National league history in which not a single ball game ended in a tie. . . . Buddy Knox, the Dayton middleweight, will train in New York for his bout with Bob Pastor in Newark a week from tonight.

Providents Stage Rally

Big Fourth Inning Defeats Ridgeville.

Mansfield Provident Loans staged a five-run rally in the fourth inning yesterday to defeat North Ridgevill girls 6 to 2 at Johns Park.

* * *

Aside from that one inning the game was a pitchers' battle between Fran Knapp of the state champion Providents, and Dorothy Pitts, speedball hurler of the visitors.

* * *

Fran limited the Ridgevilles to two hits, gave two bases on balls and fanned five, while the Providents got to the North Ridgeville star for seven hits and two walks while fanning six times.

Tipul led the Mansfield attack with two bingles in three trips.

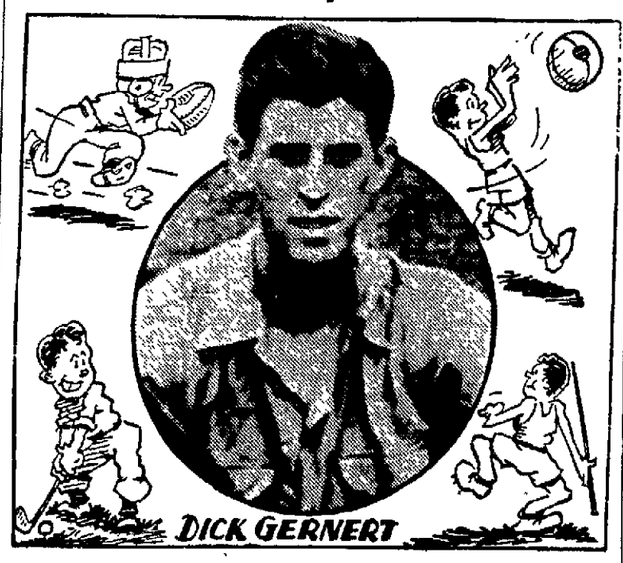
Wins Wooster Sport Award



WOOSTER—The Manges athletic prize, awarded each year at the College of Wooster to the outstanding athlete in the senior class, was given to Dick Gernert, of Bowling Green, at the college's 71st commencement here this morning. Gernert won 12 letters in the three seasons of competition permitted by Ohio conference rules. Last fall he played end, won his third letter in football and captained the Scot gridders. In basketball, he won three letters as a forward and scored 550 points in three seasons. Gernert was a three-year regular in golf and won his letter three times throwing the javelin in track.

Doubting Tom Must Be Shown

Thinks Conn Will Give Bomber Trouble.

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK—(AP)—For the first time since Joe Louis began to chop down assorted heavyweight stock and carve it into convenient sizes, the folks have changed their tune from "we believe you" to "you gotta show us."

* * *

A majority of them still think he's going to belt Billy Conn around in the Polo Grounds Wednesday night and brush off the 18th challenge to his heavyweight crown. A crowd of some 40,000 will watch the fun after contributing to a gate of $500,000 or so.

* * *

But as Louis and the cocky kid from Pittsburgh polished up their shots and their speed today in final brief sparring sessions at their training camps, even some of Joe's sincerest boosters were willing to acknowledge for the first time that he won't have any minutes to waste doing it on this occasion.

No one knows that better than the Bomber himself.

All his training has been pointed toward a repetition of the fast fox-trot he put in on Max Schmeling in their second fight. He has concentrated all his sparring along one line—rushing his punch-absorbers into a corner and then dealing dynamite off his right arm.

He has told this corner just that. Yet I don't think he'll catch the little man that quickly or with one punch. That's why I pick Conn to win the decision, thus becoming the 16th ruler since Sullivan in the royal heavyweight line.

GET TITLE SHOT

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Whoever wins tomorrow's 10-round bout here between Jack "Buddy" Walker of Columbus and Tony Shucco of Boston will get a shot at the world's heavyweight championship, Promoter Whitey Morrett reported. He said the victor would be matched with the winner of the Joe Louis-Billy Conn title bout in New York Wednesday.

Much Depends Upon Meaning of Word 'Between'

LINCOLN, Neb.—(INS)—On the meaning of the words "between" and "among" as used in a case before the state supreme court hangs disposition of a $12,000 Nebraska trust fund.

When Lewis A. Pfost died he left a will stating that after his widow's death, the $12,000 trust set up for her be:

"—divided equally, in equal shares, share and share alike, between my son, Hugh, and my 12 grandchildren."

Now Dist. Judge H. D. Landis has held that the word "between" if properly used can apply only to two objects.

The son, Hugh, as one object should receive $6,000 and the group of grandchildren, as another object, should receive $6,000, he said.

TERM OPENS

ASHLAND—The first term of the Ashland college summer school opens today. Classes will officially open Tuesday. According to plans classes will be held six days for a term of five weeks, closing July 19. Opening on July 21 the second term of five weeks will continue through Aug. 22.

Nearly the entire winter faculty will be available to the summer students and specialists from other schools will join the summer faculty. Among these are Dr. Bertha Leaman, professor of history at Juanita college, Juanita, Pa., and Miss Martha Hile, instructor of geography in the Cleveland public schools.

EXPERT FLYER

LANCASTER, Pa.—(INS)—Helen Jones, 19, who has been flying for three years, recently obtained her commercial pilot's license, one of approximately 50 women in the country who hold such licenses. She plans to become a commercial pilot after she resigns her clerk's post at the Lancaster Municipal airport.

BREAKS RECORD FOR SHOT PUTT

NEW YORK—(INS)—Al Blozis, Georgetown university's ace shot put star, today held an unofficial world record for tossing the eight-pound put 74 feet, 2 ¼ inches. Blozis also shattered his own American record for hurling the 16-pound ball 56 feet, 6⅛ inches at a Fathers day exhibition yesterday at the Polo Grounds.

Heafner Sinks Top Golfers

Rallies After Halfway Mark to Take Crown.

By LARRY HAUCK

GIRARD —(AP)— Clayton Heafner, a husky southerner who weathers storms like a sailor, floated into the front ranks of the nation's top golfers today with the tide of victory in the $5,000 Mahoning Valley open.

* * *

Six strokes behind when the sharpshooters passed the halfway mark in the 72-hole classic, the 26-year-old Linville (N. C.) pro plowed through mud and water to submerge par by four and win the tournament with a sizzling 276. It was his first triumph in three years of competition on "the circuit."

* * *

Standing in the clubhouse as water dripped off his blond head, Heafner was happy as a schoolboy.

"It was about time I won one," he said. "Everything just seemed to go right all at once. I needed those nine birdies on the last 36 too, because with a course in that shape you never can tell."

And he did need every one of the birdies, for . G. A. champion Byron Nelson dried out his swing after an early 73 yesterday to come around in 67 for a 277. The Toledo Inverness instructor had a chance at $1,200 first-prize money riding on a 30-foot putt on the final green, but the ball curled three inches to the left of the cup.

The winner passed seven players besides Nelson in the last-day firing. Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., and Lloyd Mangrum of Monterey Park, Cal., slipped to 278; Lawson Little of San Francisco and Bobby Cruickshank of Richmond, Va., slid to 279; and Johnny Bulla of Chicago, Tony Penna of Dayton, O., and Ted Luther of Wilkinsburg, Pa., holed out with 281, 282 and 286, respectively.

National open champion Craig Wood never seemed able to shake off a seven he scored on the second hole of tournament play and fell back with a 283.

Peter M. Wellman, manager of the Mahoning Country club, said the tournament would become an annual affair, with the second to be held next summer on the weekend following the National open. The sponsors are considering boosting the prize money to $7,500.

Fremont Green Sox Take Lead

Go Into First Place on Double Win Over Braves.

CHAPPIE GEYGAN'S Fremont Green Sox went into first place in the Ohio State league yesterday with a double victory over Mansfield's Braves, 6 to 3 and 8 to 1 at Fremont.

Findlay and Tiffin split even in a twin bill as the Green Sox passed them in the loop standings. And Fostoria took both games from Lima, the first by the rousing total of 17 to 0.

Freddy Wolpert and Rudy Okleson were the victims of the Fremont attack, Wolpert giving up 13 hits in the opener and Okleson nine in the nightcap.

* * *

But Mansfield provided the heavy blows in each game, Eddie Mutryn clouting a home run in the first tilt and Bill Salem a homer in the second.

Mutryn's round tripper came with Manager Alex Clowson on the paths in the first inning, while Salem's wallop represented the Braves' entire scoring in the second game.

Horse Owners Ask Giesler Ouster

HOLLYWOOD PARK, Cal.—(INS)—Petitions urging dismissal of Jerry Giesler as chairman of the California horse racing board were circulated by horse owners and trainers at Hollywood Park today as the result of charges that nine horses had been stimulated with caffeine during the Durrent meeting.

* * *

The petitions accused Giesler of "bungling" the investigation and asked Gov. Culbert Olsen to remove him and name a new board head.

"I guess when one steps on the toes of a hundred million dollars, it is good cause to remove him from public office," retorted Giesler. "I can say to these people loudly clamoring for my ouster that I shall not leave under fire.

"I say that if the investigation of the illegal stimulation of race horses causes any owner to leave then it is better for California that he is gone."

Some of the most prominent turfmen in America were asked to appear at a public hearing next Monday and answer evidence found in laboratory tests that their horses had been administered caffeine.

OIL MAN

MUSKOGEE, Okla.—(INS)—William R. Davis, international oil operator who was reported recently to have carried a peace proposal from Berlin to Washington, is remembered by veteran railroad engineers as a fellow worker who operated a locomotive between Muskogee and Denison, Tex. Davis started to work for the Kansas, Oklahoma & Gulf railroad in 1910, according to Homer Russell, general chairman of K. O. & G. engineers, and remained with the road for 11 years.

The Secret of the Marshbanks + + +

By Kathleen Norris

(Copyright, 1941)

CHAPTER XIV

"My dear girl," Kelly Coates said, taking his pipe from his mouth, "loads of people are going to love you, don't you worry! You're the kind people love. I'll bet all the girls at the school were cockeyed about you. You'll have a husband and a houseful of kids, and they'll all be crazy about you. Emma's probably had a rough deal. She looks rather like a piece of salt horse to me, although I've never seen salt horse."

Cherry laughed brokenly, stealthily wiped her eyes, and went on, "But, you see, Mrs. Porter left me some money—"

"Well, bully for her!" Kelly commented. "Have a good cry over that!"

"They read the will today. The house is going to be a museum, and lots of the furniture will be left there, and Amy gets a lot, and we all get money."

Cherry paused as if undecided how to proceed, then rushed on, "But then—but then, after they'd read the will, Amy and the judge and I were having tea in the library, and we were talking about what Amy'd do and what I'd do and all that, and I happened to call Emma 'Aunt Emma'."

"But he's your guardian. He'd know that she was your aunt."

"Oh, yes, that wasn't it. And when Amy seemed surprised I just said that I called her that sometimes, and Amy didn't pay any attention. But afterward Amy went out and then the judge asked me if Emma had told me about it, and I said yes, because I thought that was all he meant."

"What was all he meant?"

"That Aunt Emma was mother's sister."

"And what more did he mean?"

"Well, that—that—he went on talking about it, and that Aunt Emma was so fine even if she was rather cold, and then he said that his brother Fred was really a good person but impulsive and always getting into trouble . . ."

"His brother Fred!" Kelly had kneeled to straighten a slipped log in the fire. He shot her a look over his shoulder. "Fred was Amy's father?"

"Yes. Amy's name is Amy Marshbanks."

"That's right too. There was another brother?"

"No. Only Amy's father."

Kelly stopped his pipe halfway to his mouth and stared at her.

"Huh," he commented, in a brief sound like a grunt.

"And it—it killed me," Cherry said, not crying now, but pale and beginning to be agitated again. "It killed me! She's always had everything—she'll have more now—but it's not that! It's that they all loved her and wanted her and they've made so much of her and she's always had—I mean, I don't want anything she has—but they love her . . ."

She steadied suddenly at the sight of his attentive but not too sympathetic face and for a moment looked at him in silence.

"I mean," she went on presently, gaining self-control with every word, "I mean that it—it sickened me to think that Amy and I are half sisters, and that he, my father, could treat my mother so terribly—my mother was so gentle, and she was ill so long! And she got nothing, and I spent all those years at Saint Dorothea's while Amy was traveling."

Her voice trailed off into an ashamed silence; the look she turned to Kelly became aggrieved and then apologetic. For a full minute neither spoke, and then Cherry said something timidly, "Don't you think that's terrible?"

"You rather knew, I suppose," Kelly began, "that things in your background had been somewhat irregular?"

"Oh, yes, I did. Indeed, I did! They don't tell you anything at Saint Dorothea's, you know, but of course the girls talk. And we read books."

"Well, then, looky, Cherry. Why is it so much worse to know that your father came of a good family, and that he really tried to do what he could for you? I suppose it was he who supported your mother, Emma's sister, and left money to take care of you?"

"Yes; the judge said so today."

"I appreciate it's a kind of shock," Kelly said thoughtfully, looking up through wreathing smoke, "to face a thing like that, to get the details. An unknown father is so much less objectionable than one you can identify under these circumstances. But, Cherry, as it is, these things don't count as they once did."

* * *

He paused, then went on: "You're better off than I am; you're twenty and I'm thirty-one. You've got all the world before you, and I'm so damned in love with a married woman that I don't know what to do with myself. I've been painting like the devil all day," Kelly went on moodily, "but I'll scrape it all off tomorrow. It's rotten! I think I'm going to shut up this place and travel—I'll leave you the key; you can come over and use it any time you like, if I go."

He glanced at his watch. "It's ten-ten. I'm going to run you home."

They went out into the darkness to the car. There's a divine moon and what we'll see from the bridge will probably keep us there all night. Now I'll tell you, Cherry," he went on, driving down the hill, "here's what I'd like to suggest to you: You'll have bad moments over this thing, no question about it. But whenever you get down, say to yourself, 'It's my business to be giving, not taking; I'm the mother type, mothering all minkind,' and it'll buck you up."

"It does buck me up; it bucks me up just to say it," she admitted gratefully. "It seems to—to open doors for me. Whenever I think I haven't anything I'll remember that, and give something to somebody. But, Kelly," she went on a little shyly, "wouldn't that apply to you too? I mean in caring—in being in love—where it makes you so unhappy."

"Yep, but I'm the taking type," he answered soberly. "Most men are, and lots of women. The other type is rare. Rare!"

"You're not just saying that to comfort me, Kelly?"

"You know in your heart I'm not."

He stopped at the gloomy Porter mansion and got out and went up to the door with her.

"You'll never know what you've done for me tonight," Cherry said in the dark columns of the entrance.

"You did something for me too. I've been seeing blue devils all day. Listen," he went on in a brighter tone, "here's a bargain. If you get too down, you telephone me, and if I'm going crazy any time I'll telephone you, and we'll walk it off together. There are swell walks up over the hills over my way. How about it?"

"I would think it the nicest thing that ever happened to me," she said in a low tone, her eyes shining up at him in the gloom, her figure lost in the shadows.

"It's a go, then."

"There's only one thing. If we do that then I mightn't ever have any troubles," Cherry explained, her hand in his.

"You know what you ought to get for that!" His arm held her lightly, his lips brushed her forehead and he was gone.

"So you start your collegiate career next week?" the judge asked Cherry as she and Amy, murmuring apologies, slid into their seats fifteen minutes after luncheon had been announced.

"I start coaching," Cherry answered. "And then, if they let me in, I enter regular classes next September."

Her radiant, eager look went around the table and met with a response from everyone except the stern-faced old woman who sat at the judge's left. His mother accepted Cherry because she had no choice. Amy had grown to adore Cherry; Fran liked her in her indifferent way; the judge was openly fond of her, anxious for all to go well with her. The elder Mrs. Marshbanks could only fall in line. The judge had said to her upon one of the first occasions of Cherry's coming to the house, "You know who she is, of course?" to which his mother had returned frigidly, "Certainly," and had asked in return, "Does Amy know?"

"Certainly not," the judge had returned promptly, and that had closed the subject for the time But he had known and Cherry presently came to realize that her presence in the Marshbanks mansion was heartily resented by the old dowager. Curiously, the effect of this attitude was to stimulate her.

"After all," the girl would think on the few occasions when she came into contact with the older woman, "you're my grandmother, you know, and you can't help it and I can't help it."

Emma had gone with her kitten to the country now, and Cherry was to leave for Palo Alto in a few days, to take possession of a room in the house of one Mrs. Pringle, and to begin summer-school work and to do a certain amount of coaching so as to be able to enter college as a regular student in the fall. On this particular day she was going down in the limousine with Fran who had a call or two to make in Atherton and Menlo Park, and who would pick Cherry up for the return trip after Cherry had introduced herself to her new landlady and inspected her quarters.

When she and Fran were in the car, Fran said presently, "Run the window down, will you, Cherry? It's warm."

"Wouldn't you rather have the side windows down?"

"No, I want to speak to Rousseau. Rousseau, go the old road, will you, please?" Fran asked, when she could speak to the chauffeur. "For I promised I'd stop at the antique shop."

The young Frenchman did not turn his head. "But he nodded slightly.

"No, wait a minute, I think we'll do that after we leave Miss Rawlings in Palo Alto," Fran changed it suddenly.

"Now what's she about?" Cherry thought. "She's meeting someone!

"I've not seen Kelly Coates for weeks," Fran presently said thoughtfully, as if reading Cherry's mind. "He telephones, but I haven't happened to be in. I like him, too."

"He likes you," Cherry said daringly. And at the same time her almost imperceptible nod indicated Rousseau, quite within hearing. Fran's answering faint nod and shrug suggested that it didn't matter what the chauffeur heard, if indeed he could hear anything.

"You see Kelly now and then, don't you?" Fran asked.

"Now and then."

"Lately?"

"The day we closed up Mrs. Porter's house—that was day before yesterday—I saw him then," Cherry said, omitting any mention of the Sausalito visit. "We walked a little while in the Presidio."

"You like him a lot, don't you?" the soft, hoarse voice with its hidden notes of laughter and of tears asked simply.

Cherry felt the blood in her face. "I—guess so," she admitted, swallowing.

"Too bad," Fran said absently. "I'm sorry about Kelly! I was very unhappy when I married Jud," she presently went on, "and I told him that although I didn't love him as I might love some man some day—he's twenty-two years older than I am, you know . . ."

"But that's all the more reason," Fran began again, after a pause, "why I should play fair with him." She paused. "Cherry, I wonder if you will do something for me."

THEATERS

Air Thriller.

Three young men win their wings in the thrilling air drama, "I Wanted Wings," showing at the Ohio. Ray Milland, William Holden and Wayne Morris are featured plus hundreds of air cadets enlisted in the picture for flying maneuvers. Produced by Arthur Hornblow and directed by Mitchell Leisen the picture presents Veronica Lake, a newcomer, in the role of a sultry temptress. Three small parts were played in Hollywood by Miss Lake before her discovery by Arthur Hornblow. The picture was filmed at Randolph and Kelly Fields with the co-operation of the United States Army Air corps.

Rejuvenation Theme.

Plastic surgery restores a woman's beauty and turns her from a life of crime in Joan Crawford's starring vehicle, "A Woman's Face," showing at the Madison. Set in Sweden the production features thrilling winter sports including a wild ride over a huge gorge in a cable tram. Melvyn Douglas is cast in the role of the surgeon who restores the woman's beauty and Conrad Veidt furnishes the sinister influence. Reginald Owen, Marjorie Main and Donald Meek are cast. "Model Wife," the second picture features Joan Blondell and Dick Powell.

Southern Spectacle.

"Virginia," technicolor spectacle of the old and new south, showing at the Ritz, features Fred MacMurray and Madeleine Carroll. Gene Autry's new production, "The Singing Hill," is showing as a first run feature.

Comedy Revived.

Judy Canova steps into the role made famous in the silent films by Mabel Normand in "Sis Hopkins," playing at the Park. As an uncomfortable hillbilly on the campus Judy is the victim of much unpleasantness until "Professor" Jerry Colona takes a hand and enters her into the college musical comedy where she becomes a hit. Bob Crosby and his orchestra are featured, also Charles Butterworth, Carol Adams and Cobina of the radio team, Brenda and Cobina. "Price of the Bowery," with the East Side Kids is the co-attraction.

BRUNNER QUITS AS HOLC HEAD

Mansfielder Resigns After U. S. Decides to Close Its Columbus Office.

fice will be combined with the HOLC regional office in Cincinnati. A field station will be maintained at Columbus as in Cleveland, Akron, Toledo, Dayton and Youngstown but the Columbus personnel will be reduced 106 to seven employes. Officials said 49 state office employes will be transferred to Cincinnati.

Consolidation of the offices has been made possible by the record of Ohio borrowers in repaying their loans and by assurances that properties held by the HOLC can be disposed of in orderly fashion, General Manager Charles A. Jones, said.

In announcing the resignation, the general manager gave Brunner credit for Ohio's leadership among all the states in the repayment of HOLC loans.

The HOLC, created to save debt-ridden homes from foreclosure, stopped making loans in 1936 and is now in liquidation.

Approximately 98,500 Ohioans availed themselves of government refinancing for a total of $313,693,000 and today the Ohio books show 13,283 borrowers have repaid $36,481,000 to cancel their loans in full—a record unapproached by any other state.

Police Jail 30 In Sudden Drive On Hobo Camps

hoboes had been loafing about the railroad yards for the past few weeks and that the arrests were made "to clean up the situation."

E. J. White, detective for the Pennsylvania railroad, pointed out that the transients were usually intoxicated within an hour after they enter the city. White said that the hoboes were supplied with hard cider in any quantity up to a pint for five cents from some place in the vicinity of the railroad.

Most of the arrests were made on railroad property or in Lundy's lane near the railroad.

MILD UPWARD TREND FOUND IN SLOW MART

Freezing Contest Between U. S. and Axis Powers Slows Stock Trades.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Mild upward leanings were displayed by scattered stocks in today's market but many were at a standstill. While gains of small fractions predominated near the second hour, dealings were exceptionally slow.

Bonds were steady, with rails up a trifle. Commodities were without a definite trend.

The war news, brokers said, provided no particular speculative incentive and the contest between the United States and the Axis powers in "freezing" each other's assert was thought to have stressed market conservatism.

Financial quarters studied the survey of the office of production management disclosing that commercial banks have loaned a total of $1,093,000,000 to defense manufacturers. Notice was taken of the round-up of the magazine "Steel" which warned that the shortage of Steel scrap was becoming keener.

A GOOD PLACE TO EAT
AIR CONDITIONED 20° COOLER

Have This Cool Underwear and Hosiery Waiting Outside the Shower Curtain.
Nothing nicer than to come home from a hard, hot day's work and slip into a lukewarm shower.
Then slip into a fresh suit of Coopers underwear . . . some gauze-like hosiery . . . a loose, open-at-the-throat Matthes shirt . . . and BOY OH BOY, LIFE IS WORTH LIVING. To go a little further, we'd like to have you step outside the bathroom door into a Matthes cool suit . . .
The Underwear .....50c up
The Shirts .....$1.00 up
The Suits .....$19.75 up
